SCHOOL TEACHER AND GOLDEN EAGLE MISSING

"WOOLARCO" WINS FIRST PRIZE OF $25,000 IN AIR DERBY

SECOND PRIZE OF $10,000 GOES TO MARTIN JENSEN IN ALOHA

By H. R. EKINS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Honolulu, T. H., Aug. 18.—Their enthusiasm tempered by the knowledge that tragedy may have overtaken some of the flyers in the Dole air derby, residents of Honolulu are holding in abeyance the banquets, parades, and celebrations planned in honor of the winners of that pulse stirring dash across the Pacific.

Miss Mildred Doran, the courageous school teacher who started out to blaze a trail in aviation for other women to follow, is lost, and Honolulu is unwilling to be festive while her fate is unknown.

Submarines and other navy craft have plunged into the search for Miss Doran and her companion flyers of the biplane which bears her name and the other missing plane, the "Golden Eagle." Both ships are hours overdue and aviation experts have failed to advance any reason to believe that they still could be in the air.

Suspense and concern over the biplane, "Miss Doran," carrying this beautiful Michigan school teacher, John "Auggie" Peddlar, and Lieutenant Silas R. Knope, and the "Golden Eagle," with Jack Frost and Gordon Scott, increased as daybreak approached.

Art Goebel, pilot of the "Woolarco" which took first prize of $25,000 and his navigator W. V. Davis, Jr., have won the city by their modesty, their boyish pleasure at their feat, and their tender solicitation over the plight of the lost flyers.

Martin Jensen, who won the second prize of $10,000 in the "Aloha," is Honolulu's biggest man, for "Marty" was flying for the city in the great race and Honolulu was overjoyed to see him safe and "in the money."

Goebel and Davis, after the first crushing welcome which followed their landing at Wheeler field at 2:53.33 P. M., Wednesday, Pacific time, refused to take the rest which many felt they needed and spent the evening in talking over the flight, dining comfortably at the Royal Hawaiian hotel, and in dancing.

Goebel and Davis enjoyed a swim at Waikiki and only a few of the bathers at the famous beach recognized them. After the swim the fliers ate some essence of tomatoes, fried chicken, potatoes au gratin, and alligator pears, and then went down to purchase some new clothes for the evening.

Jensen, whose wife collapsed at Wheeler field a few minutes before "Marty" hove into sight and who became hysterical with joy when she saw him, went to bed for three hours during the evening and then came down town to speak briefly over the Honolulu Advertiser's radio broadcasting station.

Jensen, in greeting old friends, explained that he had been unable to sleep but that he believed he could get along without it for a time.

An interesting feature of Jensen's flight was the fact that it caused a reconciliation between the pilot and his father, Nels C. Jensen, of Jamestown, Kans. The elder Jensen had objected to Marty's flying career and during the last year an estrangement had grown up which threatened to grow into a final breach.

But Wednesday night for the first time in a year, Jensen's father communicated with him, cabling from Jamestown, Kans.:

"Congratulations. Thank God you're safe."

Goebel also received many cablegrams of congratulations. One was from Captain "Lone Star Bill" Erwin, now at Oakland, California, awaiting an opportunity to hop off for Honolulu.

"Reserve a seat for me," Erwin cabled. "I am seeing you in Honolulu Saturday."

"We want you to enter the $50,000 prize contest Los Angeles to Tokyo flight."

Goebel said that he would be unable to decide on this suggestion until he had conferred with his managers in California. He asserted, however, that in order to accept he would require at least $50,000 to build a plane.

42 NAVAL VESSELS HUNTING FOR LOST FLIERS

Washington, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Forty-two navy vessels are engaged in the hunt for the overdue San Francisco-Hawaii planes "Miss Doran" and "Golden Eagle," the navy announced today.

Destroyers, submarines and aircraft carriers are in the group searching the Pacific for trace of the daring birdmen and their companion, Miss Mildred Doran, passenger in the "Miss Doran."

Airplanes, too, will participate. When the carriers Langley and Aroostook, which steamed out of San Diego under search orders last night reach the great circle course of the Golden Eagle and Miss Doran, they will send off airplanes to aid in the hunt.

SECOND A. E. F. DISEMBARKS IN FRANCE

TEN YEARS AGO FIRST EXPEDITION ARRIVED ON JUNE 26, 1917

TODAY GROUP OF 500 AMERICAN LEGIONNAIRES ARRIVE AT CHERBOURG

Cherbourg, France, Aug. 18.—The second A. E. F. began disembarking in France today.

Ten years ago the first A. E. F. began arriving in France on June 26, 1917, at St. Nizaire. There were scenes of wild, hysterical enthusiasm at that occasion.

The arrival today of 500 members of the American Legion, the first group of other hundreds who will come here to France for the Legion convention in Paris next month, aroused no such outburst.

For one thing it was too early in the morning when the President Harding arrived. For another, these members of the second A. E. F. had not come to fight for France but merely to renew old acquaintances and associations.

Most of Cherbourg still was asleep today when tenders landed the Legionnaires on the quay. A few persons were assembled at the maritime station and there were flags here and there. Among the spectators were several French pappas and mammas and other relatives of French girls who became war brides and sailed away eight years ago. The waiting relatives were rewarded in many cases not only by the returned daughters, but by little French-Americans who had never seen the land of their mother's birth.

$20,000 and would be entirely inadequate for the Tokyo flight.

The flights of Goebel and Jensen were made in slower time than either of the other two successful Hawaiian jumps. The "Woolarco" was clocked in 26 hours, 19.33 minutes elapsed time between leaving Oakland airport and slipping down to the roaring welcome of the 30,000 spectators at Wheeler field, Honolulu. Jensen made the trip in 28 hours and 11 minutes.

Ernie Smith and Emory Bronte hold the record for the flight at 25 hours, and 26 minutes. The army fliers, Lieutenants Maitland and Hegenberger required 25 hours, and 49 minutes. The Smith-Bronte plane landed on the island of Molokai, however, and not at Wheeler field.

Goebel's flight was almost perfect. He had equipped his plane with a radio sending set, the only one of the four planes in the race with such a device, which functioned perfectly. He was in frequent communication with ships on the way across.

The "Woolarco" maintained an altitude of 700 to 800 feet and it was at that altitude that the 30,000 at Wheeler field saw him. His plane circled two or three times over the field, slowly nearing the ground, and came to a perfect landing, taxiing gracefully to the reviewing stand.

The "Aloha" appeared through the back door of the island of Oahu, as it were. Jensen said his plane had flown about 40 feet above the ocean, almost skimming the surface at times. Mrs. Jensen, who had collapsed when Goebel told her he had seen no trace of

BROTHERS AND SISTERS ARE STILL HOPEFUL

BELIEVE THE SCHOOL TEACHER MISS DORAN WILL COME THROUGH

FLINT, MICHIGAN, NEWSPAPER OFFICE SWAMPED WITH INQUIRIES

Flint, Mich., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Despite the passing of hours without information as to the fate of the missing Dole airplane racer, "Miss Doran," brothers and sisters of the girl passenger bravely refused to give up hope for her safety.

In a little band of watchers who had waited in a local newspaper office throughout the night, sat William Doran, Jr., elder brother of the young woman passenger of the airplane. He had maintained the watch since six o'clock Wednesday morning.

A group of friends surrounding him tried to distract his mind from the strain. Their efforts were futile, however, for the young student of the University of Cincinnati would talk of nothing but his missing sister.

By telephone he kept in constant touch with his two aunts, where at the home of one, Mrs. Elmer Gonsler, their younger sister, Helen, 12, sat beside the telephone.

While Mrs. Gonsler grew more anxious as the minutes passed, Helen, remained staunch. Helen, who has been "mothered" by Mildred since their mother's death 10 years ago, kept hoping bravely, although appreciating the gravity of the situation.

Their father, William Doran Sr., was at his farm at Otisville, 22 miles away. He had spent the day harvesting oats, and palpably anxious that there was definite news one way or the other. No effort was made to communicate with him.

Floyd, Mildred's 15-year-old brother, had shared the watch until 8 o'clock last night, when he left for Bay City where he is staying with friends.

The local newspaper office was swamped with telephone calls during the night, most of them coming from women.

WORRIES OVER FATE OF HER FLIER HUSBAND

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Mrs. Gwendolyn Davies Knope was in a serious condition today following a collapse caused by worry over the fate of her husband, Vilas K. R. Knope, navigator on the "Miss Doran."

She was removed to the same hospital from which she returned home one week ago today, rappy to be with her family a few days before her husband undertook his adventure.

She wept at the parting, the night Knope left for Oakland, but said: "I will be happy because he is happy. I have never seen him so anxious to do a thing as he is this."

FLOOD PREVENTION PLANS DISCUSSED AT MEMPHIS

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 17.—(UP)—Flood prevention plans for major tributaries of the lower Mississippi river were to be discussed here today at a meeting of levee board representatives from interested communities.

Suggestions made at the meeting will be presented to the Mississippi river commission in St. Louis later this week by W. R. Satterfield, chairman of the tributaries committee.

Owatonna, Minn., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Scores of farmers of Steele county were gathered here today to inaugurate a drive against chicken thieves who have operated in this county the last few months.

Completion of a permanent organization to curb farm thefts is planned. The organization is to be known as the Steele County Protective association and will have a membership of 500 farmers.

FULL BENCH OF SUPREME COURT NOW DELIBERATING

CONSIDERS SUPPLEMENTARY BRIEF IN SACCO, VANZETTI CASE

TWO MEN HAVE BEEN SCHEDULED TO DIE EARLY TUESDAY

By HENRY MINOTT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Boston, Aug. 18.—In a supplementary brief, filed today with the clerk of the Massachusetts supreme court, Attorney Arthur D. Hill chief counsel for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, made further answer to certain questions raised by the government at the recent hearing on exceptions from two adverse rulings.

The full bench of the supreme court is now deliberating the fate of the condemned anarchists, who are scheduled to die in the electric chair early Tuesday.

Hill, in the brief filed today, supported the respondents' contention that the issuance of a writ of error in a capital case is not within the sound discretion of a single justice.

Supreme Court Justice George A. Sanderson recently denied such a writ on the ground that he lacked jurisdiction. An appeal from his decision is one of the matters now before the full bench.

Washington, Aug. 18.—(UP)—The Portuguese government has made representations to the United States for commutation of the sentence of Celestino Madeiros, Portuguese citizen, under sentence to die at Boston at the same time as Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

H. G. Da Silva, Portuguese charge d'affaires here, made such personal representations to the state department supporting the cable from the Portuguese president to President Coolidge. The cable appeal was forwarded by the department to Governor Fuller of Massachusetts.

The Portuguese government holds that as capital punishment is forbidden in Portugal, execution of a Portuguese citizen in the United States would create anti-American feeling.

The state department pointed out to Da Silva that Portuguese here are subject to American laws and without special privileges.

NEUTRALITY STAND BETWEEN NATIVE FACTIONS

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT FACED WITH CHINESE SITUATION DAILY GROWING WORSE

ASSURES AMERICANS PROTECTION IN SHANGHAI AND CONCENTRATION PORTS

By LUDWELL DENNY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Aug. 18.—The United States government today decided to issue another warning to American missionaries to keep out of interior Chinese districts, where civil war is flaming again.

At the same time, the administration determined upon a policy of strict neutrality as between the native factions. Efforts of certain foreign groups to take alleged advantage of Chinese internal dissension are frowned upon here.

Faced with a Chinese situation growing daily more chaotic and delicate, this government will content itself with assuring protection for Americans in Shanghai and other concentration ports while refraining from action aimed to thwart legitimate aspirations of the awakening Chinese people, it is said.

This policy is described as "patient and sympathetic waiting."

Reliable reports explain the present strife as resulting from disintegration of the dual nationalist governments at Hankow and Nanking, and consequent conservative offensives.

The rapid southern advance of northern troops toward Shanghai, following the resignation of the Nanking nationalist military chief, Chiang Kai-Shek, can only be stopped by a sudden and unexpected unity among the rival nationalist leaders, according to these reports.

Feng Yu-Hsiang, so-called Christian general, who fled from Peking to Moscow more than a year ago, is considered the "dark horse" among the rival nationalist commanders.

No one seems to know whether in event of success he would desert his former Russian friends or re-instate the Soviet advisers recently driven out by the nationalist Hankow government.

There is a similar lack of unity among the northern or conservative leaders nominally under Chang Tse Lin, Manchurian war-lord, now holding Peking, it is understood.

PROFESSIONAL GUIDE LOST IN CAVE

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Nickajack cave near here was searched today for L. S. Ashley, professional guide, who started an exploring expedition Sunday and has not been seen since.

Rescue parties started their hunt two days ago but thus far have found no trace of the missing guide other than foot prints several miles from the entrance of the cave.

It is believed Ashley has been killed by a rock slide or drowned in one of the underground streams which flow through the cave. If alive, he is probably wandering around in total darkness.

St. Cloud, Minn., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Pat Carroll and Arthur Borna of Winnipeg, Man., narrowly escaped injury when their automobile crashed into a fence to avoid hitting three dogs engaged in a noisy street fight. ### DECLARES FUTURE AIR DERBIES ON DIFFERENT BASIS

Washington, Aug. 18.—(UP)—While extending heartiest congratulations to the winners of the Dole prizes, Clarence M. Young, aeronautics director of the commerce department, declared today that future contests of this type should be arranged on a different basis.

As a result of his experiences in officially inspecting the pilots and planes entered for the Dole event, Young believes more time should be allowed for selection and inspection of properly equipped planes and for the examination of pilots and navigators.

COOLIDGE IS A VICTIM TO WANDERLUST

TO SPEND ALL TIME ON RAILS AFTER LEAVING SUMMER WHITE HOUSE

SINCE HIS ARRIVAL AT RAPID CITY HAS TAKEN MANY TRIPS

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 18.—President Coolidge, who has always been known as the least travelled of modern presidents, has suddenly fallen victim to the lure of the road since his announcement that he does not "choose" to be a candidate for reelection in 1928.

Word was passed from the executive offices today that Mr. Coolidge is arranging to spend virtually all of his time on the rails until his arrival back in Washington some time in September.

If Mr. Coolidge's announcement of his present extensive itinerary had been made before his statement that he does not choose to be a candidate, politicians here say it would have been said that he is conducting a whirlwind campaign of the west.

Since his arrival out here Mr. Coolidge has taken more trips than in his four years in the White House. He went to every roundup, fair and spectacle to which he has been invited and his special train has been kept constantly ready for journeys.

Today he entered upon an all-day trip by special train to Hot Springs, S. D., a health resort where he intends to visit the Battle Mountain national sanatorium where veterans are cared for and lunch at the Country club before his return. Next Sunday night he is to set out on a ten day tour which will take him to Sheridan, Wyo., Billings and Livingston, Mont., and through Yellowstone National Park. This program follows the journey made yesterday of 165 miles to the Pine Ridge Indian show.

From the sources close to the president it has been learned that he intends to dedicate a library at Brookings, S. D., on his return, that he may make several speeches en route and present plans call for a visit to his farm home in Vermont on his way back.

Just when the return journey is to be begun has not yet been definitely decided. Information has been given local people that the president will try to stay until September 13 and they have offered to delay opening of school until that time in order that he might use the school house as executive offices. However, no official word has come from the president on the subject and if he intended to do all the traveling which is being mapped out for him, he could leave here before school is scheduled to open September sixth.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE BY SLASHING THROAT

St. Paul, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Raymond Post, Taylor, Wis., attempted to commit suicide today by slashing his throat in his room at a downtown hotel here. He was taken to a hospital where it was said he will recover. Despondency was believed to have caused the act.

STATE RAIL AND WAREHOUSE COMMISSION

SENDS PETITION TO INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

SIGNED BY CHAIRMAN JACOBSON AND COMMISSIONERS BOWEN AND MATSON

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 18.—(UP)—The Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission today sent a petition to the interstate commerce commission at Washington for intervention in proceedings on the proposed merger of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railroads.

The petition was signed by O. F. B. Jacobson, chairman of the commission, and Ivan Bowen and Frank W. Matson, commissioners.

In filing the petition, Commissioner Bowen explained, the commission becomes a party to all hearings on the unification and is interested primarily in the effect on railroad transportation in Minnesota and the effect upon railroad rates.

"The opposition that is voiced by other railroads to the plan, is not, of course, to the theory of unification or consolidation, for one of them that is heard the loudest has said that it is in favor of the principle of unification," Bowen said.

"Their cry is against any proposal of unification or consolidation that does not coincide with their own plans. This commission is not concerned with the effect of the various proposed plans upon the opposing financial groups. The situation with which we are concerned is that if a plan of consolidation is to come that situation should best supply the transportation needs at the lowest cost for the northwest," the commissioner stated.

SIGHTS WRECKAGE OF AIRPLANE

Washington, Aug. 18.—(UP)—The steamer Gulf Point reported to the U. S. coast guard today that she had sighted, about 155 miles east of Cape Charles, Va., the wreckage of an airplane with white wings. One wing was partly visible, but most of the rest of the craft was submerged.

The presence of a white wing gave rise to a theory that it might have been the Nungesser-Coli trans-Atlantic plane, though there was nothing more than guesswork to support this theory. An army plane was lost off the New Jersey coast recently, but it did not have white wings.

PRACTICAL JOKE RESULTS IN DEATH OF HIS FRIEND

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 18.—(UP)—A practical joke which resulted in the death of his best friend, Edward Kock, 17, may cause the arrest of Paul Haas of Drehsersburg, near here, on a charge of manslaughter.

A coroner's inquest revealed that Haas attached a live electric wire to Kock's dinner pail "to see his friend jump," and the current, which was stronger than Haas anticipated, killed the youth when he picked up the pail.

INDICTED, ARRESTED FOR FRAUDULENT SALE OF STOCK

St. Paul, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Arrest of Ivan G. Londergan, under indictment at Dubuque, Ia., for fraudulent sale of stock, was reported at federal offices here today. He was apprehended at Fargo, N. D., by M. I. Ryan and R. R. Baldwin, postal inspectors, and will be returned to Dubuque.

MASKED BANDIT HOLDS UP DEPOT AGENT AT FAIRMONT

The full bench of the supreme court is now deliberating the fate of the condemned anarchists, who are scheduled to die in the electric chair early Tuesday.

Hill, in the brief filed today, supported the respondents' contention that the issuance of a writ of error in a capital case is not within the sound discretion of a single justice.

Supreme Court Justice George A. Sutherland recently denied such a writ on the ground that he lacked jurisdiction. An appeal from his decision is one of the matters now before the full bench.

Washington, Aug. 18.—(UP)—The Portuguese government has made representations to the United States for commutation of the sentence of Celestino Madeiros, Portuguese citizen, under sentence to die at Boston at the same time as Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

H. G. Da Silva, Portuguese charge d'affaires here, made such personal representations to the state department supporting the cable from the Portuguese president to President Coolidge. The cable appeal was forwarded by the department to Governor Fuller of Massachusetts.

The Portuguese government holds that as capital punishment is forbidden in Portugal, execution of a Portuguese citizen in the United States would create anti-American feeling.

The state department pointed out to Da Silva that Portuguese here are subject to American laws and without special privileges.

NEUTRALITY STAND BETWEEN NATIVE FACTIONS

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT FACED WITH CHINESE SITUATION
DAILY GROWING WORSE

By LUDWELL DENNY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Aug. 18.—The United States government today decided to issue another warning to American missionaries to keep out of interior Chinese districts, where civil war is flaming again.

At the same time, the administration determined upon a policy of strict neutrality as between the native factions. Efforts of certain foreign groups to take alleged advantage of Chinese internal dissension are frowned upon here.

Faced with a Chinese situation growing daily more chaotic and delicate, this government will content itself with assuring protection for Americans in Shanghai and other concentration ports while refraining from action aimed to thwart legitimate aspirations of the awakening Chinese people, it is said.

This policy is described as "patient and sympathetic waiting."

Reliable reports explain the present strife as resulting from disintegration of the dual nationalist governments at Hankow and Nanking, and consequent conservative offensives.

The rapid southern advance of northern troops toward Shanghai, following the resignation of the Nanking nationalist military chief, Chiang Kai-Shek, can only be stopped by a sudden and unexpected unity among the rival nationalist leaders, according to these reports.

Feng Yu-Hsiang, so-called Christian general, who fled from Peking to Moscow more than a year ago, is considered the "dark horse" among the rival nationalist commanders. No one seems to know whether in event of success he would desert his former Russian friends or re-instate the Soviet advisers recently driven out by the nationalist Hankow government.

There is a similar lack of unity among the northern or conservative leaders nominally under Chang Tse Lin, Manchurian war-lord, now holding Peking, it is understood.

PROFESSIONAL GUIDE LOST IN CAVE

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Nickajack cave near here was searched today for L. S. Ashley, professional guide, who started an exploring expedition Sunday and has not been seen since.

Rescue parties started their hunt two days ago but thus far have found no trace of the missing guide other than foot prints several miles from the entrance of the cave.

It is believed Ashley has been killed by a rock slide or drowned in one of the underground streams which flow through the cave. If alive, he is probably wandering around in total darkness.

DECLARES FUTURE AIR DERBIES ON DIFFERENT BASIS

Washington, Aug. 18.—(UP)—While extending heartiest congratulations to the winners of the Dole prizes, Clarence M. Young, aeronautics director of the commerce department, declared today that future contests of this type should be arranged on a different basis.

As a result of his experiences in officially inspecting the pilots and planes entered for the Dole event, Young believes more time should be allowed for selection and inspection of properly equipped planes and for the examination of pilots and navigators.

COOLIDGE IS A VICTIM TO WANDERLUST

TO SPEND ALL TIME ON RAILS
AFTER LEAVING SUMMER
WHITE HOUSE

SINCE HIS ARRIVAL AT RAPID CITY HAS TAKEN
MANY TRIPS

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 18.—President Coolidge, who has always been known as the least travelled of modern presidents, has suddenly fallen victim to the lure of the road since his announcement that he does not "choose" to be a candidate for reelection in 1928.

Word was passed from the executive offices today that Mr. Coolidge is arranging to spend virtually all of his time on the rails until his arrival back in Washington some time in September.

If Mr. Coolidge's announcement of his present extensive itinerary had been made before his statement that he does not choose to be a candidate, politicians here say it would have been said that he is conducting a whirlwind campaign of the west.

Since his arrival out here Mr. Coolidge has taken more trips than in his four years in the White House. He went to every roundup, fair and spectacle to which he has been invited and his special train has been kept constantly ready for journeys.

Today he entered upon an all-day trip by special train to Hot Springs, S. D., a health resort where he intends to visit the Battle Mountain national sanatorium where veterans are cared for and lunch at the Country club before his return. Next Sunday night he is to set out on a ten day tour which will take him to Sheridan, Wyo., Billings and Livingston, Mont., and through Yellowstone National Park. This program follows the journey made yesterday of 165 miles to the Pine Ridge Indian show.

From the sources close to the president it has been learned that he intends to dedicate a library at Brookings, S. D., on his return, that he may make several speeches en route and present plans call for a visit to his farm home in Vermont on his way back.

Just when the return journey is to be begun has not yet been definitely decided. Information has been given local people that the president will try to stay until September 18 and they have offered to delay opening of school until that time in order that he might use the school house as executive offices. However, no official word has come from the president on the subject and if he intended to do all the traveling which is being mapped out for him, he could leave here before school is scheduled to open September sixth.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE BY SLASHING THROAT

STATE RAIL AND WAREHOUSE COMMISSION

SENDS PETITION TO INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

SIGNED BY CHAIRMAN JACOBSON
AND COMMISSIONERS
BOWEN AND MATSON

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 18.—(UP)—The Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission today sent a petition to the interstate commerce commission at Washington for intervention in proceedings on the proposed merger of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railroads.

The petition was signed by O. P. B. Jacobson, chairman of the commission, and Ivan Bowen and Frank W. Matson, commissioners.

In filing the petition, Commissioner Bowen explained, the commission becomes a party to all hearings on the unification and is interested primarily in the effect on railroad transportation in Minnesota and the effect upon railroad rates.

"The opposition that is voiced by other railroads to the plan, is not, of course, to the theory of unification or consolidation, for one of them that is heard the loudest has said that it is in favor of the principle of unification," Bowen said.

"Their cry is against any proposal of unification or consolidation that does not coincide with their own plans. This commission is not concerned with the effect of the various proposed plans upon the opposing financial groups. The situation with which we are concerned is that if a plan of consolidation is to come that situation should best supply the transportation needs at the lowest cost for the northwest," the commissioner stated.

SIGHTS WRECKAGE OF AIRPLANE

Washington, Aug. 18.—(UP)—The steamer Gulf Point reported to the U. S. coast guard today that she had sighted, about 155 miles east of Cape Charles, Va., the wreckage of an airplane with white wings. One wing was partly visible, but most of the rest of the craft was submerged. The presence of a white wing gave rise to a theory that it might have been the Nungesser-Coli trans-Atlantic plane, though there was nothing more than guesswork to support this theory. An army plane was lost off the New Jersey coast recently, but it did not have white wings.

PRACTICAL JOKE RESULTS IN DEATH OF HIS FRIEND

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 18.—(UP)—A practical joke which resulted in the death of his best friend, Edward Kock, 17, may cause the arrest of Paul Haas of Dreherstown, near here, on a charge of manslaughter.

A coroner's inquest revealed that Haas attached a live electric wire to Kock's dinner pail "to see his friend jump," and the current, which was stronger than Haas anticipated, killed the youth when he picked up the pail.

MASKED BANDIT HOLDS UP DEPOT AGENT AT FAIRMONT

On his one hundredth birthday anniversary recently David Smith of Glasgow sang at a party given in his honor. He chose four verses of a song familiar in Glasgow at fair time when he was a boy. Smith can trace his ancestry back to the Sixteenth century. He lives with his granddaughter, is a member of the Old Glasgow club and takes an active interest in activities of the day. ## DAIRY FACTS

BACTERIAL COUNT IN MILK PLANTS

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In an effort to help the average milk-plant operator locate the causes of sudden "hops" in the bacterial content of bottled milk, Ernest Kelly, in charge of market milk investigations, bureau of dairy industry, United States Department of Agriculture, is conducting a study of at least 100 representative plants. It is important that the count be kept as low as possible, and although increases during handling may be relatively small it is of considerable help to the plant operator to know where and why any sudden increases are likely to take place.

Data secured from 20 plants studied to date show that certain operations in the plant, such as sterilization of equipment and storage, are more apt to be slighted than others, and that noticeable increases in bacteria take place as a result.

The discovery that decided jumps in bacterial count often take place after the milk has been bottled and while in storage awaiting delivery has led to the further study of temperature conditions in the average storage room. Two men are now engaged in this work and are making observations in a number of storage rooms, noting the differences in temperature in all parts of the room. Daily variations as great as 34 degrees Fahrenheit have been noted.

It is expected that the complete study will reveal the specific operations that need to be watched with particular care to keep the bacterial count of the bottled milk at a minimum. Such a guide as to possible sources of trouble should be of considerable value to the milk plant operator who is not in a position to employ a specialist.

Buckwheat and Products

Make Good Dairy Feeds

Ground buckwheat and other buckwheat products are valuable feed for cattle, for they may be used as a partial substitute for, or as a supplement to wheat bran and gluten feeds, according to the department of animal husbandry at the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

The total digestible nutrients in ground buckwheat are worth about the same as those in oats or wheat bran, providing the buckwheat is properly mixed with other feeds. A suitable, medium-protein mixture, containing ground buckwheat, may be made of 300 pounds of ground oats or barley, 200 pounds of ground buckwheat, 200 pounds of cotton-seed meal, and 100 pounds of oil meal.

Buckwheat middlings contain 1,532 pounds of total digestible nutrients in a ton and more than 24 per cent of digestible protein. This refers only to the middlings from which the hulls have been removed, and, in this form some dairymen consider them equal to or better than gluten feed for milk production. A mixture containing buckwheat middlings may be made of 200 pounds of bran or oats, 300 pounds buckwheat middlings, and 100 pounds cottonseed meal.

When comparing the prices of buckwheat feeds with other standard feeds ground buckwheat may be compared to wheat bran and buckwheat middlings to gluten feed.

Milking Cows Require

Some Grain on Pasture

Under average New Jersey conditions, pasture alone is not adequate for cows in milk. Experience has shown that they need a grain mixture containing 12 to 16 per cent protein. Says Carl B. Bender, assistant dairy husbandman at the experiment station, New Brunswick.

Many of the more successful dairymen follow the practice of feeding sufficient grain to keep the animals from losing flesh because of production stimulated by the pasture grasses. Care is taken not to turn the cows until the grass is five inches high, and for the first few days they are left out only an hour or two. This is to avoid grassy and garticky flavors in the milk and to avoid intestinal disorders.

As a means of prolonging the life of pastures the experiment station suggests dividing the area into four or five lots and moving the cows from one to another every five or ten days in this way the animals are assured of a good supply of fresh grass throughout the season.

Even where pasture grass is ample and fresh, a good supply of clean fresh water has been found highly desirable.

China Buys Dairy Cows

Apparently the revolutions in China are not expected to upset the demand for dairy products. A Vancouver firm acting for a large dairy concern at Shanghai, reports that within the next two years the Shanghai dairy will add 200 head to its herd of 300 and British Columbia as well as Western Canada breeders will be called on to supply the new stock.

Orders have been received for 39 pure-bred Jerseys and 10 Holstein cows, to be shipped at an early date.

DAIRY FACTS

BACTERIAL COUNT IN MILK PLANTS

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In an effort to help the average milk-plant operator locate the causes of sudden "lapses" in the bacterial content of bottled milk, Ernest Kelly, in charge of market milk investigations, bureau of dairy industry, United States Department of Agriculture, is conducting a study of at least 100 representative plants. It is important that the count be kept as low as possible, and although increases during handling may be relatively small it is of considerable help to the plant operator to know where and why any sudden increases are likely to take place.

Data secured from 20 plants studied to date show that certain operations in the plant, such as sterilization of equipment and storage, are more apt to be slighted than others, and that noticeable increases in bacteria take place as a result.

The discovery that decided jumps in bacterial count often take place after the milk has been bottled and while in storage awaiting delivery has led to the further study of temperature conditions in the average storage room. Two men are now engaged in this work and are making observations in a number of storage rooms, noting the differences in temperature in all parts of the room. Daily variations as great as 34 degrees Fahrenheit have been noted.

It is expected that the complete study will reveal the specific operations that need to be watched with particular care to keep the bacterial count of the bottled milk at a minimum. Such a guide as to possible sources of trouble should be of considerable value to the milk plant operator who is not in a position to employ a specialist.

Buckwheat and Products Make Good Dairy Feeds

Ground buckwheat and other buckwheat products are valuable feed for cattle, for they may be used as a partial substitute for, or as a supplement to wheat bran and gluten feeds, according to the department of animal husbandry at the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

The total digestible nutrients in ground buckwheat are worth about the same as those in oats or wheat bran, providing the buckwheat is properly mixed with other feeds. A suitable, medium-protein mixture, containing ground buckwheat, may be made of 300 pounds of ground oats or barley, 200 pounds of ground buckwheat, 200 pounds of cotton-seed meal, and 100 pounds of oil meal.

Buckwheat middlings contain 1,532 pounds of total digestible nutrients in a ton and more than 24 per cent of digestible protein. This refers only to the middlings from which the hulls have been removed, and, in this form some dairymen consider them equal to or better than gluten feed for milk production. A mixture containing buckwheat middlings may be made of 200 pounds of bran or oats, 200 pounds buckwheat middlings, and 100 pounds cottonseed meal.

When comparing the prices of buckwheat feeds with other standard feeds, ground buckwheat may be compared to wheat bran and buckwheat middlings to gluten feed.

Milking Cows Require Some Grain on Pasture

Under average New Jersey conditions, pasture alone is not adequate for cows in milk. Experience has shown that they need a grain mixture containing 12 to 16 per cent protein, says Carl B. Bender, assistant dairy husbandman at the experiment station, New Brunswick.

Many of the more successful dairy men follow the practice of feeding sufficient grain to keep the animals from losing flesh because of production stimulated by the pasture grasses. Care is taken not to turn the cows until the grass is five inches high, and for the first few days they are left out only an hour or two. This is to avoid grassy and garlicky flavors in the milk and to avoid intestinal disorders.

As a means of prolonging the life of pastures the experiment station suggests dividing the area into four or five lots and moving the cows from one to another every five or ten days. In this way the animals are assured of a good supply of fresh grass throughout the season.

Even where pasture grass is ample and fresh, a good supply of clean fresh water has been found highly desirable.

China Buys Dairy Cows

Apparently the revolutions in China are not expected to upset the demand for dairy products. A Vancouver firm acting for a large dairy concern at Shanghai, reports that within the next two years the Shanghai dairy will add 200 head to its herd of 300 and British Columbia as well as Western Canada breeders will be called on to supply the new stock.

Orders have been received for 70 pure-bred Jerseys and 10 Holstein cows, to be shipped at an early date.

Otherwise He Was O. K.

At a dinner during the war a certain man of international fame was being discussed. Opinions differed concerning him. Some of the diners attacked him savagely, others insisted that he was a fine fellow despite his mistakes. J. M. Barrie, who was present, listened to all their remarks in silence, then said quietly without looking up from his plate, "He was an infernal scoundrel, but 'twas his only fault."

A monologue is a conversation between a lumber-dealer and a prospect.

Marie: "Helen, why is it you call your sweetie Pilgrim?"

Helen: "Cause every time he comes he makes more progress."

It must be a pleasure to attend a meeting and not be dunned for a contribution or appointed a member of a committee.

We just can't help being enthusiastic about Standard Coal. It has such a small amount of ash and burns so evenly.

A certain bald-headed man remarked to us, "I used to part my hair—now I've parted with it."

Welike the golden summer days. We like the nice cool nights; In fact we like all summer brings, Except mosquito bites.

In a town the size of Brainerd one really enjoys a home. In a city one is born in a hospital, reared in a boarding school, educated in college, courted in automobiles, married in a church, spends the morning golfing, afternoons playing bridge and evenings at the movies. When sick one goes to the hospital and when dead is buried.

ried from the undertaker's. Live in Brainerd and enjoy your home.

Do you remember 'way back when your horses shied at the automobiles and it made you mad at the infernal contraptions?

Once men began to get gray at fifty. Now they omit the "r".

Never mind the "just as good" coal. You stick to Standard and you'll come out on top.

Don't dodge responsibility. When a bee comes under the windshield, stop the car yourself instead of trusting to a telephone pole.

STUNT RIDING BOOKED FOR FAIR

Wing Walking, Parachute Drops Add to Thrilling Moments of County Fair

AUGUST 25, 26, 27

Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Tune up in Preparation for Concerts

Several forms of airplane stunt riding, which will include walking the wings, making figures, besides a parachute drop of 2,000 feet from the plane to the ground will form a few of the exciting moments at the Crow Wing County Fair, August 25, 26, and 27, at Pequot.

Francis Clark or Jene DuRand, of Minneapolis will do the flying in R. D. Ellis' plane.

Members of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra who have their summer homes at May Lake have arrived for their vacations and will be on hand for the opening of the fair. Henri Verbruggen and Mme. Yde Lake will be featured with the orchestra.

Acts and attractions include: Rand's Dogs; Allen and Allen, acrobats; Roberts and Co., magicians; Ricardo Nelson, the world's strongest man who bends horseshoes with his teeth, pulls apart an inch and a quarter rope that tests 4,400 pounds where the world's champion team has pulled apart an inch rope with a test of 3,400 pounds.

The three abreast merry-go-round and chair-o-plane that were here last year have been reengaged. These are said to be the finest riding devices in the state. The Pequot band will play Thursday night and other bands on other days of the fair. Baseball games are being arranged.

Preparations are being made for the handling of the largest number of exhibits yet entered. Fair officials state that there is more early interest in the entrance of exhibits than ever before. Last year there were more than 4,000 entries. Some of the departments have shown a very rapid growth. The poultry department is one of these, and the poultry house has been entirely remodeled this year in anticipation of a further increase.

209 LOTS TO GO UNDER HAMMER

F. A. Whiteley in City Arranging Sale of Lots Near Lum Park

HAVE SALES OFFICE

Auction, Sept. 3; 15 Undivided Blocks in St. Paul Addition Are Up

F. A. Whiteley, of Minneapolis, an early resident of Brainerd who came here as a boy 56 years ago, was in the city today in connection with the outlining of an auction sale of lots on September 3.

Mr. Whiteley is managing trustee of the Whiteley Trust Association, owners of 177 lots in 15 whole undivided blocks in St. Paul addition to Brainerd adjoining Lum Park.

The Association also platted a 40 acre tract at the outskirts of the city adjoining Lum Park designated as Wawanassa Park. Thirty two of these lots in addition of the 177 in the other addition will be offered for sale by auction.

Mr. Whiteley stated that he was certain that ultimately the name of Rice Lake would be changed to Wawanassa Lake, the interpretation of the Indian name being whippoorwill, taken from the large number of these birds that inhabit Rice Lake territory.

W. T. Conklin has been named salesman and will also conduct the auction. A sales office has been erected on Ash avenue near Lum Park where Mr. Conklin will be every afternoon.

HEDDA HOYT TELLS-- OF OLD STYLES THAT LIVE

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, Aug. 18.—(UP)—In New York, as in all large cities, you can see them; elderly ladies who still live and dress in the styles of their heyday. Wide skirts supported by buckram, plumed hats with large crowns, handbags shaped like carpetbags, high-topped buttoned boots, veils, etc., are some of the items these old timers have failed to drop with the time. The materials worn by these dear old ladies prove that their gowns were of best quality, for, they lived in an age when quality meant style. A reef or two taken in their skirts and they would pass unnoticed in modern crowds.

But to them old ways are best. Dear old souls, whose eyes are closed to our modern ways of dressing, you are at least dignified in your odd trappings!

What impression will our modern women who fail to ride with the tide of fashion create some 20 years hence? Will short-hemmed and short-haired old ladies be the laughing stock of the new generation? One wonders!

It is very difficult when one grows too old to care about coping with styles to accept new ideas of dress. We can all number among our friends elderly women. Yet the chignon died the day Irene Castle clipped her first lock. Time will tell whether the chignon shall return again. If long hair doesn't come in style again, a long-haired woman will be a curiosity 15 years hence.

The other day I saw an old lady wearing flowing widow's weeds and the thought occurred to me that deep mourning weeds were a thing of the past. Certainly in New York one doesn't see much of the long veil. This doubtless, was done away with when fashion decreed less conspicuous mourning apparel.

A GOOD KIND OF FARM RELIEF

THAT development of the St. Lawrence Ship Canal will do more for agriculture in the grain-growing territory of the Northwest than the McNary-Haugen bill or any other means of government price fixing, was the statement made to President Coolidge early this week by Judge R. G. McFarland, of Jamestown, N. D., who headed a pilgrimage of North Dakota farmers to the summer White House, says the Watertown Daily Standard.

High transportation charges are perhaps the greatest obstacle to prosperity of the agricultural interests in the wheat and corn belts. The United States Department of Commerce has estimated that an average saving of from 6.4 to 9.6 cents per bushel would be effected in the transportation of unbroken cargoes of wheat through the proposed shipway, which saving is approximately 50 per cent of the lowest existing rate between Duluth or Chicago and Liverpool.

Such a saving applied to the quantity of wheat that is now carried down the shallow St. Lawrence through its numerous locks, and with transfers from lake boats to canal barges and from the barges to ocean steamers, would amount to a saving of at least $6,000,000 a year. More than 6,000,000 tons of freight pass up and down the existing inadequate waterway.

Present tonnage would doubtless increase to at least 20,000,000 tons as soon as an improved channel was in use and at an average saving of $3 per ton the Ship Canal would be worth not less than $60,000,000 a year. The economies in transportation alone would almost equal the capital cost of the plan. And experts report that the revenue to be derived from the power incidentally developed would be sufficient to meet the cost of the combined navigation and power project.

Montreal, which is opposed to the shipway because it might endanger its prestige as a seaport, charges that interest of the United States in the Ship Canal is purely for the power possibilities of river development. The attitude of the farmers of North Dakota certainly refutes this charge, for by no stretch of imagination could St. Lawrence power be figured out as a benefit to the wheat belt.

COMMUNITY ADVERTISING

THE day of community advertising is here, and communities which do not recognize the fact are as certain to fall behind in the march of progress as the manufacturer who does not recognize the fact that advertising keeps up his gross sales and allows him to secure the advantages of mass production, says the Pierre Capital Journal.

South Dakota as a whole is receiving a considerable benefit from the more or less gratis it is receiving through the presence of President Coolidge as a vacation visitor in the Black Hills, but this will not last forever. Neither is it the kind of advertising that attracts new capital to establish itself permanently in the state. Vacation tourists will leave large sums, variously estimated at from $1,000,000 to $20,000,000 in South Dakota this summer, but this is nothing compared to the amount of new wealth that could be attracted to the state through a modest expenditure in judicious advertising.

Commercial enterprises set a standard of spending about 3 per cent of their expected gross business advertising. Community advertising probably does not require as large a percentage to get maximum results. If the story of South Dakota's opportunities were properly broadcasted to the world there would be an influx of new business capital to this state that would make the late Florida boom look like a modest subdivision land sale in proportion. —Bemidji Sentinel.

adaptation of this novel.

In old France, Fabien, a youth as handsome as good, awaits a coach to bear him away to train for the priesthood. In Amiens he meets Manon Lescant, a beautiful orphan, being taken to a convent by her only relative, a brother, who doesn't want to be bothered with her. The brother, seeing Ravoire, a rich connoisseur of women, feasting his eyes upon her, suddenly realizes Manon's worldly value, and bargains her for gold to Ravoire, who plans to take her to Paris. Manon is hurried into the agreement by her brother. Fabien, meanwhile, seeks to help her.

CHAPTER III—Continued

Slowly Manon began to realize that someone in the courtyard was trying to attract her attention. It was Fabien. He had been waiting patiently for Lescant's departure. When Manon saw him he was gazing at her with worship and true adoration in his eyes. His whole attitude and the comfort he seemed to inspire made her feel that he was the only person in the world she could trust. She held her hands appealing toward him.

With an expression denoting only unselfish love and tenderness Fabien answered her call for help.

Moving quickly over toward the low hung balcony, he impulsively climbed up the jutting stone wall and grasped the railing so that he could look adoringly at her.

"There are tears in your eyes."

"They will go away now," she replied tremulously, but when more tears continued to come she ex-

"Will you trust yourself to me?"

plained, "My brother has made some miserable plans for me and my heart is breaking."

"I know—I heard them talking. That is why I am here."

"But nothing can be done. Apparently it is the will of Heaven."

The sweetness of Manon's expression and the air of sorrow with which she announced her fate so affected Fabien that without a moment's thought of what might be involved he said, impulsively:

"You have inspired me with a tender interest. Trust to my honor and I will sacrifice my life to save you from the tyranny of this situation."

"Oh, if you could I shall owe you more than life itself could repay."

"No, not that—just trust me more than anyone else in the world."

"I do trust you, Monsieur, as I need a friend."

Fabien's hand went out to hers in protection. As they looked deeply into each other's eyes the moment was too big for either of them to speak.

A noise in the stable yard drew their attention that way and Manon cried out in sick realization as she saw the coachman climb on the box and gather up the reins that held four prancing horses in check.

"That is the coach that the Comte has ordered to take you away." Both of Fabien's hands tightened over Manon's slender ones.

"I can't go with him!" cried Manon, looking hopefully at Fabien.

Slowly he grasped her meaning. She was suggesting that he take her away. The very thought made him tremble his boyhood.

Trembling with emotion, he inquired, "Will you trust yourself to me?"

"Oh, yes! . . . Wait while I get my things."

Manon forgot her former terror, and running into the room gathered up her bag and little pin. She was back on the balcony in a moment, her arms full.

With difficulty Fabien helped her over the railing and they began their dangerous and thrilling ascent to the ground. Like two children on a lark they raced across the courtyard and drew up breathlessly at the waiting coach.

Fabien opened the door with a lovely gesture and turning to Manon said, "May I help you in— and here is your bag and basket!"

Fabien was fast learning that he was less a boy than he had imagined. The man on the box looked down, protestingly, "This coach was ordered for the Comte de Ravoire."

"Well?" thundered Fabien threateningly. Then with an eloquent swing he took out a purse of gold from his belt, and tossed it indifferently to the coachman.

Your pardon, M'ieu le Comte," apologized the man. "I had not expected to see so young a gentleman."

Fabien raised his hand in a gesture that seemed to signify, "All right, but no more mistakes from now on." Then he said, "Just a moment and we will pull out with all speed."

A clever thought had come to Fabien, and dashing into the stables he disappeared from sight for a few seconds. When he climbed into the coach with Manon he wore a worldly expression of cunning and satisfaction that would have amazed the Bishop.

With the crack of a long whip and the clatter of horses' hoofs, the coach started down the road.

In the meantime, Lescant had been vainly searching the Inn for Manon. In chagrin and desperation he was finally forced to admit to the Comte that he could not find her.

"What?" The Comte paused in the midst of ordering the servants to carry his luggage to the coach. "She must be about some place!"

Lescant glanced out the door rather than meet the Comte's eyes. He saw the coach going down the highway. Grasping the Comte's arm he cried in amazement, "My God! There is Manon—see her through the rear window—and there is a man with her!"

This last was uttered as Fabien's head came through the window, urging the coachman to lash the horses into greater speed.

Lescant and the Comte hastened out into the courtyard.

They were joined by Tiberge, Fabien's friend, who had recognized his fellow student as the Comte's companion. Tiberge had a singular affection for his friend and from what he had seen of Fabien's strange actions he suspected the youth's passion. He wanted to save him from ruin. But was it too late? Unconsciously Tiberge fingered the rosary at his belt and whispered a prayer for Fabien's salvation.

"Landlord!" shouted Lescant frantically.

The fat little man came running from the Inn.

"Prepare some horses immediately! We must overtake the coach."

Lescant was a furious temper. To think that inexperienced Manon could get away from him just when she had become a valuable property! Putting aside his own annoyance he tried to soothe the Comte as they walked hurriedly toward the stables.

No sooner had they arrived than the landlord met them at the door with this startling news, "There is no horse in the stable! The young scoundrel cut them all loose before he left."

"But we must overtake them!" whined the Comte impatiently.

"Impossible, sir. There are no horses in the countryside that can overtake the ones I am used to that coach."

In hopeless, temporary defeat, Lescant and the Comte retired to the Inn to plan on setting a trap for Manon as soon as she arrived in Paris with her young escort.

CHAPTER IV

Manon was on her knees, perched up on the seat, looking out the small back window of the coach at her brother and the wealthy roue, from whom Fabien had just saved her. As a bend in the road hid the courtyard from sight she settled down into the seat with a great sigh of relief.

"Do you suppose they will come after us?" This was a new worry. "They may want to marry me," said Fabien. But they will have a hard time getting started because I turned all the horses loose just before we left."

This amused Manon and she laughed delightedly. It was the first time Fabien had seen her in a gay mood. The laugh was so infectious that he joined her in sheer delight. Again they were like two youngsters on a day's excursion, with no thought of trouble to mar their enjoyment.

Gropingly Fabien's hand went in search of Manon's. A thrill of ecstasy passed through them at the warm contact, and sitting close together they looked trustfully into each other's eyes.

Fabien's heart expanded to include a thousand bits of pleasure of which now he had not the remotest idea. A delicious consciousness of enjoyment spread through his mind and soul. He sank into a kind of delirium in which he thought only of the beautiful trusting young girl at his side and the fact that he was her chosen escort.

A GOOD KIND OF FARM RELIEF

THAT development of the St. Lawrence Ship Canal will do more for agriculture in the grain-growing territory of the Northwest than the McNary-Haugen bill or any other means of government price fixing, was the statement made to President Coolidge early this week by Judge R. G. McFarland, of Jamestown, N. D., who headed a pilgrimage of North Dakota farmers to the summer White House, says the Watertown Daily Standard.

High transportation charges are perhaps the greatest obstacle to prosperity of the agricultural interests in the wheat and corn belts. The United States Department of Commerce has estimated that an average saving of from 6.4 to 9.6 cents per bushel would be effected in the transportation of unbroken cargoes of wheat through the proposed shipway, which saving is approximately 50 per cent of the lowest existing rate between Duluth or Chicago and Liverpool.

Such a saving applied to the quantity of wheat that is now carried down the shallow St. Lawrence through its numerous locks, and with transfers from lake boats to canal barges and from the barges to ocean steamers, would amount to a saving of at least $6,000,000 a year. More than 6,000,000 tons of freight pass up and down the existing inadequate waterway.

The economies in transportation alone would almost equal the capital cost of the plan. And experts report that the revenue to be derived from the power incidentally developed would be sufficient to meet the cost of the combined navigation and power project.

Montreal, which is opposed to the shipway because it might endanger its prestige as a seaport, charges that interest of the United States in the Ship Canal is purely for the power possibilities of river development. The attitude of the farmers of North Dakota certainly refutes this charge, for by no stretch of imagination could St. Lawrence power be figured out as a benefit to the wheat belt.

"They may want to," consoled Fabien. But they will have a hard time getting started because I turned all the horses loose just before we left."

This amused Manon and she laughed delightedly. It was the first time Fabien had seen her in a gay mood. The laugh was so infectious that he joined her in sheer delight. Again they were like two youngsters on a day's excursion, with no thought of trouble to mar their enjoyment.

Gropingly Fabien's hand went in search of Manon's. A thrill of ecstasy passed through them at the warm contact, and sitting close together they looked trustfully into each other's eyes.

Fabien's heart expanded to include a thousand bits of pleasure of which he now had not the remotest idea. A delicious consciousness of enjoyment spread through his mind and soul. He sank into a kind of delirium in which he thought only of the beautiful young girl at his side and the fact that he was her chosen escort.

Effect of Tides

According to some scientists, the tides, especially in narrow inlets, put a break on the earth's spin and thus tend to lengthen the day by about a fifty-thousandth part of a second every year.

What would modern navigation do without the channel buoys—those floating markers that keep ships off the shoals? In a very real sense, the advertisements in this paper are channel buoys, placed for your protection—for the safeguarding of the family expenditures.

These advertisements are the signed statements of reputable firms who seek your patronage on the single basis of giving value for every dollar spent. They are honest statements, the only kind an advertiser can use and remain an advertiser.

BABE RUTH'S 38th HOMER TIES HIM WITH LOU GEHRIG DEMPSEY ARRIVES AT CHICAGO TO TRAIN

COMES IN THE 11TH INNING, GAME WITH SOX

GAVE THE YANKEES A 3 TO 2
VICTORY OVER CHICAGO
TEAM

BLOW WAS A LOW DRIVE INTO
TORY

(By United Press)
Babe Ruth's 38th home run, putting him into a tie with his teammate, Lou Gehrig, came in the 11th inning of the Yankees' game with the White Sox yesterday, and gave New York a 3 to 2 victory. The blow was a low drive into left field.

While the Babe's home run was putting the Yankees so much farther ahead in the American League, defeat of the league-leading Chicago Cubs yesterday at the hands of Brooklyn, and victories of the Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals over the New York Giants and Boston Braves, respectively, tightened up the National League somewhat. The Cubs now have a five-game lead over Pittsburgh, who are one game ahead of the Cardinals.

The Dodgers' defeat of the Cubs came as somewhat of a surprise. Hal Carlson had pitched effectively in the early innings, allowing but one run. The Dodgers, however, touched him for two singles and a home run for three runs in the eighth, and came right back with three singles and two runs and a 6 to 5 victory.

Carmen Hill's airtight pitching featured the Pirates' 4 to 1 victory over the Giants. He scattered five hits effectively, Jackson's double resulting in the only Giant tally.

After pitching scoreless ball for six innings, Charley Robertson blew up and allowed the Cardinals five runs. Genewich, who replaced him, was touched for two more before the game was over. The score: St.
Louis, 7; Boston, 3.

The Washington Senators and the St. Louis Browns divided a double header, the Senators taking the matinee, 4 to 1, behind the stellar pitching of Lisenbee, and the Browns copping the nightcap, 3 to 2, by a ninth inning rally.

The Philadelphia Athletics made it three straight from Cleveland, 4 to 1. "Lefty" Grave had perfect control and failed to issue a single base on balls, although he permitted eight safeties.

Detroit's new rookie, Haskell Billings, so-called greatest college pitcher in the country, won his first game,
4 to 2, when he held the Boston Red Sox to four hits.

Dressen's homer in the eighth enabled Cincinnati to defeat the Phillies, 2 to 1. Luque scattered four hits but three bases on balls almost lost the game for him.

No American Association games were played Wednesday.

TROUT SEASON CLOSES New Ruling Places Brook Trout Sea- son From April 15 to August 15

Deputy Game Warden A. P. Cardie today called attention to the closing of the trout season, except lake trout, on August 15 in this county.
The season, according to the 1927
revision is from April 15 to August 15.

An exception is made in the case of Lake and Cook counties where the season is from May 25 to September 1.

The season for lake trout is from November 15 to September 1.

BASEBALL'S BIG FIVE

Babe Ruth's thirty-eighth homer of the season broke up the game between the Yankees and the White Sox and tied him once again with his teammate, Lou Gehrig, for premier major league slugging honors. It was his only hit in four tries.

Lou's best effort in the same number of chances was a double.

Ty Cobb made a triple and a single in four attempts.

Speaker hit his second homer of the year and a single out of nine times at bat in the Washington-St. Louis doubleheader.

Hornaby was credited with a single out of three tries.

DODGE CURIOUS CROWDS, STOP OFF AT OAK PARK

FORMER CHAMPION TO TRAIN
AT LINCOLN FIELDS RAC-
ING PLANT

GENE TUNNEY EXPECTED TO
ARRIVE SOME TIME
NEXT WEEK

By EDWARD C. DERR

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Aug. 18.—Accompanied by his wife, Estelle Taylor, Jack Dempsey arrived in Chicago today to start training for his championship fight with Gene Tunney, September 22.

Dempsey and Estelle left the crack
Los Angeles Limited at the Oak Park suburban station in order to avoid the crowds which were awaiting him at the downtown station of the Northwestern railroad.

Estelle has been ill and Jack wished to do everything possible to eliminate excitement for her.

The former heavyweight champion and his wife were met by Leo Flynn, Dempsey's manager, and were taken to downtown Chicago by motor car.

Dempsey said he was preparing for an extensive interview this afternoon.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—With the arrival of Jack Dempsey and his retinue and the completion of the remodeling of the Lincoln Fields racing plant into a huge stadium where he will train for his coming world's championship heavyweigh-tling with Gene Tunney, Chicago today took on the first real appearance of a "fight camp."

All that remains is the arrival of Gene Tunney, which is scheduled for some time next week.
The champion is at Speculator, N.
Y., from where reports have recently been emanating that he has gone into serious training.

Dempsey, his wife, Estelle Taylor, the movie actress, his trainer, "Jerry the Greek" Luvaglio, and the remainder of his retinue arrived on the Los Angeles Limited at 9:55 this morning. They went direct to a hotel to confer with his manager, Leo Flynn while Estelle proceeded to an outlying hotel.

Dempsey intends to start training Monday, Flynn has intimated. He will comfortably establish Estelle who has been ill since his bout with Jack Sharkey in New York, before proceeding to Lincoln Fields.

The mammoth racing plant which Dempsey has accepted as training quarters has been entirely revamped in order to meet every requirement.
There will be two rings, one outside for work during good weather, and another on the main floor of the clubhouse to be used when the weather is bad. Both rings will be of regulation size.

The ex-champion will use the one-mile race track for road work and a specially constructed platform for bag punching, rope skipping and wrestling with the sand bag.

Dempsey will occupy the private quarters of Col. Matt Wynn, owner of the fields, on the third floor of the clubhouse. He will have a private dining room on the second floor, where selected cooks may provide his food. Sparring partners, trainers and visiting newspapermen will be housed in the jockey's rooms.

MRS. REINHARDT, DALLAS, TEXAS, FAVORED TO WIN

Lake Geneva, Wis., Aug. 18.—(U P)—Mrs. Elaine Rosenthal Reinhardt of Dallas, Tex., was the popular favorite today to win the 1921 title as women's western golf champion. Her victory over Miss Dorothy Page of Madison, Wis., defending champion, proved the outstanding performance of the tournament to date.

Today's quarter-final round should produce some exceptionally good golf as several of the remaining favorites meet each other.

The pairings:
Mrs. E. L. Reinhardt and Mrs.
Mervin Jones.

Miss Bernice Wall and Miss Marion Turpie.

Mrs. Harry Pressler and Miss Virginia Wilson.
Miss Miriam Burns Horn and Mrs.

The Blue and White oarsmen year's Olympic games, provided they are named as America's representatives, and they will be forced to forego the Poughkeepsie regatta unless the American Olympic committee chooses a date for the American tryouts next year that does not conflict with the intercollegiate race.

Many Players Hurt

It seems a year of injuries among the big leaguers. Among those who are on the casualty list now are Thombroken ankle; Urban Shocker, Yankee hurler, also a broken ankle; Fred Schulte, Browns' outfielder, with a fractured wrist and rib, and Frank Hogan, Braves' catcher, with a cut hand. Pity the poor insurance men.

CREAM OF AMATEURS AT MINIKAHDA

NATIONAL TOURNAMENT SOON
UNDER WAY AT MINNE-APOLIS

PRESENCE OF BOBBY JONES AND PROFICIENT SHOTS AROUSE
INTEREST

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 18.—

(UP)—The cream of amateur golfers of the country continued their descent upon Minnikahda club golf course here today in preparation for the National Tournament which gets under way with the qualifying round next Monday.

The presence of Bobby Jones and his proficient shots in practice rounds was the signal for arousing interest in the coming event.

The probable return Friday morning of George Von Elm from Detroit will also advance interest to an even higher pitch.

His first journey over the course was apparently pleasing to Jones since he continued "off his game" and shot a par 72 Wednesday morning. He sallied forth on the out nine with concentration divided between his playing and the strange fairways to finish with a score of 37, two over par. Then he devoted all his attention to his play and returned in 35, two under par.

Jones played with Watts Gunn and Gene Cook who also hail from Atlanta and have a number of titles and records to their credit. Gunn scored 73 and Cook took 78. In the afternoon Jones eased about the course to score 77 while Gunn took a 74 and Cook, 75.

George Voight, holder of a number of titles gained in eastern tournaments, went around in 78.

Frank Dolp, winner of the Western Amateur championship last year took a 74.

Jones advanced his arrival here by two days to avail himself of more practice sessions before the start of the tournament. He expected to play 36 holes again today.

ed at Philadelphia on Sept. 8, 9 and 10.

The order in which the team members will play and their positions in not have to be announced until 24

announcements will be made by the team captain, a non-playing member, Charles Garland.

HERMAN A. MISKE, FATHER OF FIGHTER, DIES AT HOSPITAL

Miske, prominent heavyweight prizefighter, died at a hospital here today

ters, Mildred Miske and Mrs. Henry

SCANDAL RUMORS PERMEATE SOUTHERN BASEBALL CIRCUIT

Owatonna, Minn., Aug. 18.—(UP)— Unconfirmed rumors of "scandal" were rampant today in cities of the Southern Minnesota Baseball circuit.

They are to the effect that various clubs in the circuit are in possession of information that illegal tactics were in use by opponents.

Although the rumors have not been confirmed or denied for the most part, fans have become interested in a letter received by Thomas H. Quinn, president of the league, in which the Armour team of South St. Paul is charged with "letting down" in games with St. James. The charge was made by M. F. Sullivan, Mankato, chief supporter of the Blue Sox of that city.

St. James and Mankato are fighting it out for the championship of the second-half schedule.

The first-half schedule was won by Albert Lea. In Faribault baseball circles the rumor was in circulation that Albert Lea had employed players in violation of the salary limits ruling.

President Quinn has decided to employ new umpires for use in games which will have a bearing on the championship and stated that "doubtful" contests would result in drastic action.

named "Rienzi." It was given to him at Rienzi, a small village in Missis-

BABE RUTH'S 38th HOMER TIES HIM WITH LOU GEHRIG

COMES IN THE 11TH INNING,
GAME WITH SOX

GAVE THE YANKEES A 3 TO 2
VICTORY OVER CHICAGO
TEAM

TORY

(By United Press)

Babe Ruth's 38th home run, putting him into a tie with his teammate, Lou Gehrig, came in the 11th inning of the Yankees' game with the White Sox yesterday, and gave New York a 3 to 2 victory. The blow was a low drive into left field.

While the Babe's home run was putting the Yankees so much farther ahead in the American League, defeat of the league-leading Chicago Cubs yesterday at the hands of Brooklyn, and victories of the Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals over the New York Giants and Boston Braves, respectively, tightened up the National League somewhat. The Cubs now have a five-game lead over Pittsburgh, who are one game ahead of the Cardinals.

The Dodgers' defeat of the Cubs came as somewhat of a surprise. Hal Carlson had pitched effectively in the early innings, allowing but one run. The Dodgers, however, touched him for two singles and a home run for three runs in the eighth, and came right back with three singles and two runs and a 6 to 5 victory.

Carmen Hill's airtight pitching featured the Pirates' 4 to 1 victory over the Giants. He scattered five hits effectively, Jackson's double resulting in the only Giant tally.

After pitching scoreless ball for six innings, Charley Robertson blew up and allowed the Cardinals five runs. Gnewich, who replaced him, was touched for two more before the game was over. The score: St. Louis, 7; Boston, 3.

The Washington Senators and the St. Louis Browns divided a doubleheader, the Senators taking the matinee, 4 to 1, behind the stellar pitching of Lisenbee, and the Browns copping the nightcap, 3 to 2, by a ninth inning rally.

The Philadelphia Athletics made it three straight from Cleveland, 4 to 1. "Lefty" Grove had perfect control and failed to issue a single base on balls, although he permitted eight safeties.

Detroit's new rookie, Haskell Billings, so-called greatest college pitcher in the country, won his first game, 4 to 2, when he held the Boston Red Sox to four hits.

Dressen's homer in the eighth enabled Cincinnati to defeat the Phillies, 2 to 1. Luque scattered four hits but three bases on balls almost lost the game for him.

No American Association games were played Wednesday.

TROUT SEASON CLOSES

New Ruling Places Brook Trout Season From April 15 to August 15

Deputy Game Warden A. P. Cardie today called attention to the closing of the trout season, except lake trout, on August 15 in this county. The season, according to the 1927 revision is from April 15 to August 15.

An exception is made in the case of Lake and Cook counties where the season is from May 25 to September 1.

The season for lake trout is from November 15 to September 1.

BASEBALL'S BIG FIVE

Babe Ruth's thirty-eighth homer of the season broke up the game between the Yankees and the White Sox and tied him once again with his teammate, Lou Gehrig, for premier major league slugging honors. It was his only hit in four tries.

Lou's best effort in the same number of chances was a double.

Ty Cobb made a triple and a single in four attempts.

Speaker hit his second homer of the year and a single out of nine times at bat in the Washington-St. Louis doubleheader.

Hornsby was credited with a single out of three tries.

DODGE CURIOUS CROWDS, STOP OFF AT OAK PARK

AT LINCOLN FIELDS RAC-ING PLANT

GENE TUNNEY EXPECTED TO
ARRIVE SOME TIME
NEXT WEEK

By EDWARD C. DERR

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Aug. 18.—Accompanied by his wife, Estelle Taylor, Jack Dempsey arrived in Chicago today to start training for his championship fight with Gene Tunney, September 22.

Dempsey and Estelle left the crack Los Angeles Limited at the Oak Park suburban station in order to avoid the crowds which were awaiting him at the downtown station of the Northwestern railroad.

Estelle has been ill and Jack wished to do everything possible to eliminate excitement for her.

The former heavyweight champion and his wife were met by Leo Flynn, Dempsey's manager, and were taken to downtown Chicago by motor car.

Dempsey said he was preparing for an extensive interview this afternoon.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—With the arrival of Jack Dempsey and his retinue and the completion of the remodeling of the Lincoln Fields racing plant into a huge stadium where he will train for his coming world's championship heavyweight bout with Gene Tunney, Chicago today took on the first real appearance of a "fight camp."

All that remains is the arrival of Gene Tunney, which is scheduled for some time next week. The champion is at Speculator, N. Y., from where reports have recently been emanating that he has gone into serious training.

Dempsey, his wife, Estelle Taylor, the movie actress, his trainer, "Jerry the Greek" Luvaglio, and the remainder of his retinue arrived on the Los Angeles Limited at 9:55 this morning. They went direct to a hotel to confer with his manager, Leo Flynn, while Estelle proceeded to an outfitting hotel.

Dempsey intends to start training Monday, Flynn has intimated. He will comfortably establish Estelle who has been ill since his bout with Jack Sharkey in New York, before proceeding to Lincoln Fields.

The mammoth racing plant which Dempsey has accepted as training quarters has been entirely revamped in order to meet every requirement. There will be two rings, one outside for work during good weather, and another on the main floor of the clubhouse to be used when the weather is bad. Both rings will be of regulation size.

The ex-champion will use the open-air race track for road work and a specially constructed platform for bag punching, rope skipping and wrestling with the sand bag.

Dempsey will occupy the private quarters of Col. Mart Wynn, owner of the fields, on the third floor of the clubhouse. He will have a private dining room on the second floor, where selected cooks may provide his food. Sparring partners, trainers and visiting newspapermen will be housed in the jockey's rooms.

MRS. REINHARDT, DALLAS, TEXAS, FAVORED TO WIN

Lake Geneva, Wis., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Mrs. Elaine Rosenthal Reinhardt of Dallas, Tex., was the popular favorite today to win the 1927 title as women's western golf champion. Her victory over Miss Dorothy Page of Madison, Wis., defending champion, proved the outstanding performance of the tournament to date.

Today's quarter-final round should produce some exceptionally good golf as several of the remaining favorites meet each other.

The pairings:
Mrs. E. L. Reinhardt and Mrs. Melvin Jones.
Miss Bernice Wall and Miss Marion Turple.
Mrs. Harry Pressler and Miss Virginia Wilson.
Miss Miriam Burns Horn and Mrs. Dave Gaut.

Columbia varsity crew, which won the national title at Poughkeepsie, may not defend its honors in the intercollegiate regatta next year.

The Blue and White oarsmen are anxious to compete at next year's Olympic games, provided they are named as America's representatives, and they will be forced to forego the Poughkeepsie regatta unless the American Olympic committee chooses a date for the American tryouts next year that does not conflict with the intercollegiate race.

Many Players Hurt

It seems a year of injuries among the big leaguers. Among those who are on the casualty list now are Thomas Thevenow (shown in the photograph) Cardinals' shortstop, with a broken ankle; Urban Shocker, Yankee hurler, also a broken ankle; Fred Schulte, Browns' outfielder, with a fractured wrist and rib, and Frank Hogan, Braves' catcher, with a cut hand. Pity the poor insurance men.

PROFICIENT SHOTS AROUSE
INTEREST

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 18.—(UP)—The cream of amateur golfers of the country continued their descent upon Minikahda club golf course here today in preparation for the National Tournament which gets under way with the qualifying round next Monday.

The presence of Bobby Jones and his proficient shots in practice rounds was the signal for arousing interest in the coming event.

The probable return Friday morning of George Von Elm from Detroit will also advance interest to an even higher pitch.

His first journey over the course was apparently pleasing to Jones since he continued "on his game" and shot a par 72 Wednesday morning. He sallied forth on the out nine with concentration divided between his playing and the strange factways to finish with a score of 37, two over par. Then he devoted all his attention to his play and returned in 35, two under par.

Jones played with Watts Gunn and Gene Cook who also hail from Atlanta and have a number of titles and records to their credit. Gunn scored 73 and Cook took 78. In the afternoon Jones eased about the course to score 77 while Gunn took a 74 and Cook, 75.

George Voight, holder of a number of titles gained in eastern tournaments, went around in 78.

Frank Dolp, winner of the Western Amateur championship last year took a 74.

Jones advanced his arrival here by two days to avail himself of more practice sessions before the start of the tournament. He expected to play 36 holes again today.

PERSONNEL OF 1927 AMERICAN DAVIS CUP TEAM

The team consists of William T. Tilden, William M. Johnston, Richard N. Williams and Francis T. Hunter.

Two alternates also were named: John Doeg, of Santa Monica, Cal., and George Lott, of Chicago.

The challenge round will be played at Philadelphia on Sept. 8, 9 and 10.

The order in which the team members will play and their positions in the singles or doubles matches will not have to be announced until 24 hours before the play starts. The announcements will be made by the team captain, a non-playing member, Charles Garland.

Funeral services will be held next Sunday. The widow and two daughters, Mildred Miske and Mrs. Henry Andersen, survive.

SCANDAL RUMORS PERMEATE SOUTHERN BASEBALL CIRCUIT

Owatonna, Minn., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Unconfirmed rumors of "scandal" were rampant today in cities of the Southern Minnesota Baseball circuit.

They are to the effect that various clubs in the circuit are in possession of information that illegal tactics were in use by opponents.

Although the rumors have not been confirmed or denied for the most part, fans have become interested in a letter received by Thomas H. Quinn, president of the league, in which the Armour team of South St. Paul is charged with "letting down" in games with St. James. The charge was made by M. F. Sullivan, Mankato, chief supporter of the Blue Sox of that city.

St. James and Mankato are fighting it out for the championship of the second-half schedule.

The first-half schedule was won by Albert Lea. In Faribault baseball circles the rumor was in circulation that Albert Lea had employed players in violation of the salary limits ruling.

President Quinn has decided to employ new umpires for use in games which will have a bearing on the championship and stated that "doubtful" contests would result in drastic action.

U. S. NAVY TO SEARCH THE SEA FOR LOST FLIERS

ADMIRAL JACKSON, OF BATTLE FLEET, DIRECTING THE HUNT

"MISS DORAN" AND "GOLDEN EAGLE" PASSED FARAL-
LON ISLANDS

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 18. — (UP)—Resources of the U. S. navy were mobilized today for a search of the seas in quest of Miss Mildred Doran, the flying school teacher, and the four fliers missing with her in the Dole racing planes still unaccounted for.

With Admiral Jackson, commander in chief of the U. S. battle fleet, directing the hunt, the destroyers Sumner, Hull, Lavelette, Meyer and Hazelwood were circling toward the California coast from their positions at sea, seeking possible flares or signals from the surface of the ocean.

The "Miss Doran" and the "Golden Eagle" had not been reported since flying out through the Golden Gate and there was, of course, the possibility that they had been forced to descend after only a short time in the air. Neither plane had been seen or heard from since passing the Farallon Islands.

Minneapolis Critic Endorses "Sensations of '27"

Carlton Miles, able critic of the Minneapolis Journal in reviewing "Sensations of 1927" says in part: "Charles George's 'Sensations of 1927' is as neat and well-staged a revue as one would wish to see. It has more entertainment value per scene than the road editions of the Broadway revues that travel this way the second season out of New York. It has ideas, a certain continuity and some good comedy scenes, most of them longer than the brief skits with which revues are now adorned. George has written some flowing music, with his 'Poppy' song; the most striking and his 'Smile' song which carries a haunting melody.

"The first act although lacking somewhat in humor the action is fast and interest maintained well. A chorus of attractive girls fill the background and there are several principals with the best comic in Ken Christy that I have seen in the last few months. Christy is a humorist of resource, deliberation, good timing of his jests and a sincerity that gives plausibility to his yoked characterization. George the author and composer, does heroic work throughout the many episodes—a personable, talented chap. Barbara Bronell, the featured performer, is a graceful dancer. Bessie Delmore, the comedienne, is a capital actress working well with Christy in their scenes and the entire performance

Again this Jelly-Making Sugar is Proved!

THE Great Western jelly-making and preserving contest is over. More than twenty thousand women in eight states participated. The MAIN prize winners are listed elsewhere in this space. Most of them used Great Western Sugar... proved to themselves the advantages of best sugar in jelly making and preserving. One of the outstanding results of the contest was a lack of uniformity in method and varying quality of jellies and preserves submitted. Hence the following suggestions by Miss Maude Sheridan, judge of the contest.

"The common fault of the jellies submitted in this contest is probably the outstanding fault of many jelly makers—the use of too much sugar. Old recipes which call for one cup of sugar to one cup of juice do not give as good quality jellies as when three-fourths cup of sugar is used with one of juice.

"However, this rule is of no avail unless the juice is concentrated before the sugar is added. If the juice is so full of water that the sugar and juice must be boiled together for a long time—say twenty minutes or more—this shows that the juice should have been boiled down and the water evaporated before the sugar was added.

"Jelly makers who are always sure of good jelly first boil their juice and then make a pectin test.

"This test is made by using one tablespoon of juice, before any sugar is added, and one tablespoon of alcohol (denatured or rubbing-alcohol.) These two ingredients are placed in a saucer or cup. If the consistency becomes that of the white of an egg there is sufficient pectin in the juice to make good jelly. If the juice remains watery then the juice must either be concentrated by boiling a longer period, or additional pectin must be added... apple juice or commercial pectin.

"After this test has been satisfactorily made, the sugar should be added to the boiling juice. If all conditions are right, the jelly should come within ten minutes at the most.

"The jelling point is reached when the jelly comes from the spoon in a sheet. If jelly leaves the spoon in drops, it will not solidify properly.

"If jelly is placed in the sun, the color will be brighter. Is always best to make jelly on a clear, bright day so that the evaporation may be at its greatest point."

Practically every entrant in the contest used Great Western Sugar, although that was not required. Many contestants who never before had used best sugar in jelly making proved its advantages and put a new understanding of the jelly-making satisfaction of beet sugar before thousands of women.

LON ISLANDS

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 18. — (UP)—Resources of the U. S. navy were mobilized today for a search of the seas in quest of Miss Mildred Doran, the flying school teacher, and the four fliers missing with her in the Dole racing planes still unaccounted for.

With Admiral Jackson, commander in chief of the U. S. battle fleet, directing the hunt, the destroyers Sumner, Hull, Lavelette, Meyer and Hazelwood were circling toward the California coast from their positions at sea, seeking possible flares or signals from the surface of the ocean.

The "Miss Doran" and the "Golden Eagle" had not been reported since flying out through the Golden Gate and there was, of course, the possibility that they had been forced to descend after only a short time in the air. Neither plane had been seen or heard from since passing the Farallon Islands.

Minneapolis Critic Endorses "Sensations of '27"

Carlton Miles, able critic of the Minneapolis Journal in reviewing "Sensations of 1927" says in part:

"Charles George's 'Sensations of 1927' is as neat and well-staged a revue as one would wish to see. It has more entertainment value per scene than the road editions of the Broadway revues that travel this way the second season out of New York. It has ideas, a certain continuity and some good comedy scenes, most of them longer than the brief skits with which revues are now adorned. George has written some flowing music, with his 'Poppy' song, the most striking and his 'Smile' song which carries a haunting melody.

"The first act although lacking somewhat in humor the action is fast and interest maintained well. A chorus of attractive girls fill the background and there are several principals with the best comic in Ken Christy that I have seen in the last few months. Christy is a humorist of resource, deliberation, good timing of his jests and a sincerity that gives plausibility to his yodel characterization. George the author and composer, does heroic work, throughout the many episodes—a personable, talented chap. Barbara Bronell, the featured performer, is a graceful dancer. Bessie Delmore, the comedienne, is a capital actress working well with Christy in their scenes and the entire performance

Again this Jelly-Making Sugar is Proved!

THE Great Western jelly-making and preserving contest is over. More than twenty thousand women in eight states participated. The MAIN prize winners are listed elsewhere in this space. Most of them used Great Western Sugar... proved to themselves the advantages of beet sugar in jelly making and preserving. One of the outstanding results of the contest was a lack of uniformity in method and varying quality of jellies and preserves submitted. Hence the following suggestions by Miss Maude Sheridan, judge of the contest.

"The common fault of the jellies submitted in this contest is probably the outstanding fault of many jelly makers—the use of too much sugar. Old recipes which call for one cup of sugar to one cup of juice do not give as good quality jellies as when three-fourths cup of sugar is used with one of juice.

"However, this rule is of no avail unless the juice is concentrated before the sugar is added. If the juice is so full of water that the sugar and juice must be boiled together for a long time—say twenty minutes or more—this shows that the juice should have been boiled down and the water evaporated before the sugar was added.

"Jelly makers who are always sure of good jelly first boil their juice and then make a pectin test.

"This test is made by using one tablespoon of juice, before any sugar is added, and one tablespoon of alcohol (denatured or rubbing-alcohol.) These two ingredients are placed in a saucer or cup. If the consistency becomes that of the white of an egg there is sufficient pectin in the juice to make good jelly. If the juice remains watery then the juice must either be concentrated by boiling a longer period, or additional pectin must be added... apple juice or commercial pectin.

"After this test has been satisfactorily made, the sugar should be added to the boiling juice. If all conditions are right, the jelly should come within ten minutes at the most.

"The jelling point is reached when the jelly comes from the spoon in a sheet. If jelly leaves the spoon in drops, it will not solidify properly.

"If jelly is placed in the sun, the color will be brighter. It is always best to make jelly on a clear, bright day so that the evaporation may be at its greatest point."

Practically every entrant in the contest used Great Western Sugar, although that was not required. Many contestants who never before had used beet sugar in jelly making proved its advantages and put a new understanding of the jelly-making satisfaction of beet sugar before thousands of women.

BERT DUNN GAINS FAME

Qualifying as Long Distance Swimmer of Gull

3 MILES, 2 HOURS AND QUARTER

Also Hero in Wonderful Fish Story Vouched for by Friends

Bert Dunn who is employed at Gust Ahlquist's resort, Pine Harbor in, on Gull Lake is winning fame as a local long distance swimmer. The other day, with white caps on the lake and when the going was especially rough, Mr. Dunn swam from Grand View Lodge to the Inn, a distance of three miles, in two hours and 15 minutes. As far as is known, Mr. Dunn is the only individual that has even accomplished this feat on Gull Lake.

Mr. Dunn is an expert swimmer and already has won two medals for saving two drowning persons.

Yesterday, he was the hero in a fish story. While out on the lake and taking pictures from the boat he noticed a splash of water caused by one fish chasing another. Mr. Dunn leaped into the water and gave chase, catching one of them underneath the gill. The fish was alive when brought to shore and proved to be a wall eyed pike weighing eight pounds.

Saw Deer, Moose, and Bear En Route; Rocky Banks Jutted Out of River Waters

A canoe trip that covered some of the finest lakes and rivers of the northwest and beyond the boundary of Canada was recalled in an enthusiastic manner last evening by B. Perry Newton, scout executive of the district to the local Lions club.

The trip took the party of 14 Eagle scouts and interested canoers through the Superior Lake forest with its high peaks of rock banks rising out of the water.

Mr. Newton gave an account of the interesting experiences, en route, the portages, and the greetings exchanged by other canoe parties when they met.

He told of seeing numerous wild animals including moose, deer, bears, and reported the fishing in the lakes to be exceptionally good. Mr. Newton recalled how they picked fresh big blueberries and prepared pie as a delicacy.

R. D. Stitzel delivered a straight forward Lions pep talk which also was received with interest.

PLATTE LAKE AND BULL DOG LAKE

It is reported that Henry Templin and Mr. Premiser left per auto the early part of the week for North Dakota to work there till fall. Our good wishes accompany them.

The Minnesota Pastoral conference of the Buffalo Lutheran Synod met at the Immanuel church, Rev. Wm. Heidtke, pastor, last week for a two day session. Rev. Millus, Jr., and Rev. Heidtke furnished the written work. Many questions pertaining to church and church work were considered and satisfactorily answered.

Fishing at Erskin Lake is good. We can prove this statement. After the sessions, three of the ministers Ewald, Hasely and Heidtke and Mrs. Heidtke went fishing. In three hours these four caught 3 crappies, 3 perch, 23 sun fish and 41 good sized bull heads.

The Rev. Heidtke family is at present entertaining company from Milwaukee, Wis., their uncle and cousin, the R. Kunde family.

The farmers around here are all smiles over the good hay crop which they were able to put up in good condition during such splendid weather. It appears there will be no hay shortage next winter and spring.

Centipede House Fly Enemy

The centipede is found pretty much all over the world. The species common in the United States, Scutigera Forceps, was reported over 20 years ago as devoting the nights to killing house flies. Later an observer detected one in the act of capturing a butterfly much larger than itself. The insect remains concealed during the day.

BERT DUNN GAINS FAME

Qualifying as Long Distance Swimmer of Gull

3 MILES, 2 HOURS AND QUARTER

Also Hero in Wonderful Fish Story Vouched for by Friends

Bert Dunn who is employed at Gust Ahlquist's resort, Pine Harbor In, on Gull Lake is winning fame as a local long distance swimmer. The other day, with white caps on the lake and when the going was especially rough, Mr. Dunn swam from Grand View Lodge to the Inn, a distance of three miles, in two hours and 15 minutes. As far as is known, Mr. Dunn is the only individual that has even accomplished this feat on Gull Lake.

Mr. Dunn is an expert swimmer and already has won two medals for saving two drowning persons.

Yesterday, he was the hero in a fish story. While out on the lake and taking pictures from the boat he noticed a splash of water caused by one fish chasing another. Mr. Dunn leaped into the water and gave chase, catching one of them underneath the gill. The fish was alive when brought to shore and proved to be a wall eyed pike weighing eight pounds.

B. Perry Newton Recalls Interesting Experiences on Recent Canoe Trip

COVERED MANY LAKES

Saw Deer, Moose, and Bear En Route; Rocky Banks Jutted Out of River Waters

A canoe trip that covered some of the finest lakes and rivers of the northwest and beyond the boundary of Canada was recalled in an enthusiastic manner last evening by B. Perry Newton, scout executive of the district to the local Lions club.

The trip took the party of 14 Eagle scouts and interested canoeers through the Superior Lake forest with its high peaks of rock banks rising out of the water.

Mr. Newton gave an account of the interesting experiences, en route, the portages, and the greetings exchanged by other canoe parties when they met.

He told of seeing numerous wild animals including moose, deer, bears, and reported the fishing in the lakes to be exceptionally good. Mr. Newton recited how they picked fresh big blueberries and prepared pie as a delicacy.

R. D. Stitzel delivered a straight forward Lions pep talk which also was received with interest.

PLATTE LAKE AND BULL DOG LAKE

It is reported that Henry Templin and Mr. Premiser left per auto the early part of the week for North Dakota to work there till fall. Our good wishes accompany them.

The Minnesota Pastoral conference of the Buffalo Lutheran Synod met at the Immanuel church, Rev. Wm. Heidtke, pastor, last week for a two day session. Rev. Millus, Jr., and Rev. Heidtke furnished the written word. Many questions pertaining to church and church work were considered and satisfactorily answered.

Fishing at Erskin Lake is good. We can prove this statement. After the sessions, three of the ministers Ewald, Hasely and Heidtke and Mrs. Heidtke went fishing. In three hours these four caught 3 crappies, 3 perch, 23 sun fish and 41 good sized bull heads.

The Rev. Heidtke family is at present entertaining company from Milwaukee, Wis., their uncle and cousin, the R. Kunde family.

The farmers around here are all smiles over the good hay crop which they were able to put up in good condition during such splendid weather. It appears there will be no hay shortage next winter and spring.

Centipede House Fly Enemy

The centipede is found pretty much all over the world. The species common in the United States, Scutigera Forceps, was reported over 20 years ago as devoting the nights to killing house flies. Later an observer detected one in the act of capturing a butterfly much larger than itself. The insect remains concealed during the day.

TRAGEDY REARS HEAD IN DOLE HAWAII RACE

the "Aloha," "Miss Doran" or "Golden Eagle," collapsed again in her husband's arms.

"Where are the other boys?" were Goebel's first words.

"You're first," he was told.

The Hollywood stunt flyer, whose face must be known to hundreds of thousands of Americans for he has appeared in movieland, could scarcely believe it.

"It's hard to realize we're first in the race," he said.

His first action after the wild greetings had subsided was to dictate a message to his mother.

"Dear mother," he said, "here in 20 hours. Feeling fine."

Actually his time was 26 hours and 20 minutes.

Telling his own story of the flight Goebel declared:

"There was fog the entire distance. We saw the surface of the Pacific for the first time Wednesday morning. The weather was pleasant except for the fog. We followed the radio beacon all the way. Maui was the first island we sighted. We had it in sight for the last two hours of the trip."

"I had to hold one of the tubes in our radio set in my hand to keep it working. After we passed the Golden Gate we didn't see a trace of the other three ships."

Captain Paul Schluter, navigator of Jensen's plane, appeared slightly dizzy after landing. It was his first long plane ride; his navigating experience was gained as a shipmaster and he deserted that calling for the glamor of the skies.

Jensen, native son, was almost buried beneath leis. The crowd refused to obey orders of the police and military to move back, so enamored were they of their own hero.

"Damned if I didn't lose my way," Jensen ejaculated. "And that's strange, for I know these islands better than any of the other flyers."

He was tired. "But I'm very happy," he added. "I never doubted my ability to reach the old home port."

Dole, too, was happy in the success of Jensen and Goebel.

"I knew they would; oh, I knew they would," he repeated.

As for the other two planes and their five occupants, for the first several hours of silence when the planes were believed safely on their way it was assumed that they had been hidden by fog and clouds from ships along the path. They had no radio sending sets and it was thought that, like Marty Jensen, they would suddenly dart out from the eastward sky and swoop down toward the field.

But the fuel carried by the two planes would not keep them aloft for the period which has passed since they hopped off from Oakland airport Tuesday.

The "Miss Doran," getting away 90 minutes behind the leaders, was given more of a chance to stay aloft than the "Golden Eagle" and it was computed that the big biplane could fly for 33 hours. But the 33 hours passed at 11 o'clock last night and there was no word from the ship.

It was similarly estimated that the "Golden Eagle" could stay aloft until 6:30 last night. At midnight Wednesday she was five and one-half hours overdue.

It was understood 32 navy ships would be called into action from the mainland today besides those in Hawaiian waters.

They will spread out over the steamer lanes, working fanwise across the area over which the planes headed.

Several rumors that the planes had reached Honolulu were broadcast by radio. The Radio Corporation of America, at San Francisco, sent out messages to ships at sea to be on the lookout.

Full descriptions of the lost planes were sent out to the searching ships by the navy wireless stations here and in San Francisco.

Both the "Miss Doran" and the "Golden Eagle" carried rubber life rafts. There were emergency food supplies on both planes and gasoline dumping systems which were intended to make the gasoline tanks buoyant enough to support the planes.

But the weight of the engines, it was feared, might have pulled the planes down before the occupants would have had a chance to use their emergency equipment.

Crissey Field, San Francisco, Aug. 18.—The Pacific Air Transport Co. will dispatch two planes from this field immediately in search of the missing Dole fliers, officials of the company announced at 10 A. M., Pacific time.

Grover Tyler, general superintendent of the company, which has the coast air mail contract, will pilot the first plane, it was announced. The second plane will be piloted by Jess Hart.

Honolulu, Aug. 18.—Hawaii awakened today, after an afternoon of expectant waiting and a night of welcoming the two Dole fliers who arrived safely, to realization that the smiling blue sunlit waters bordering the island shores are holding stark tragedy.

Failure of the "Miss Doran" and the "Golden Eagle" to arrive constitutes a more tragic and dramatic story to the island territory than even that of the late commander

SAYS HUSBAND SAT ON STREET CAR TRACKS

Los Angeles, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Her husband was violent tempered and had a habit of sitting on street car tracks, testified Mrs. Laura Votion, daughter of the late C. A. Cranfield, millionaire oil man, at her divorce hearing.

She obtained a divorce.

John Rodgers and the immortal "Ph-9."

The fate of five lives, a daring girl and four men, is obscured by the light mists over the eastward horizon, curtaining 2,400 miles of sea to the North American mainland.

Somewhere on that great expanse of gently heaving ocean Hawaii believes the two planes came down.

How close to either shore—the mainland or the islands—is entirely unknown. Neither missing plane was reported after passing the Golden Gate.

Officials directing the navy's search, by destroyers, submarines and aircraft, admitted they were facing a tremendous task with absolutely no definite information to start upon.

The islands themselves have already been thoroughly searched in the hope that one or both of the planes might have made a forced landing on some isolated spot as did Ernie Smith and Emory Bronte in the first successful civilian flight ever achieved over this hazardous airway.

Nothing but dead silence followed departure of the ships from San Francisco. Neither plane was ever definitely sighted, and neither could give so much as its position in longitude and latitude.

Neither plane was equipped with pontoons hence no one can guess if the planes have fallen, whether they remain aloft.

While the planes may have gone down at any point between California and the islands, it is pointed out also that one or both might have overshot the islands completely by flying above the clouds and fog banks, or losing bearings.

Honolulu is generally pessimistic that even parts of the planes will ever be found.

The city expects their fate will remain secret, perhaps locked in the silence of some isolated cove of the Pacific.

Honolulu, T. H., Aug. 18.—Countless rumors swept through Honolulu last night and today, but the only one which had not been definitely discounted was this:

That signals are being flashed from the middle of Molokai Channel.

Investigation this morning revealed nothing to indicate the "signals" might have come from one of the missing ships. There was possibility that the reflections came from metal fittings on searching submarines.

By JOHN N. PALMER (United Press Staff Correspondent) San Francisco, Aug. 18.—With two trans-Pacific planes nearly 22 hours overdue at Hawaii and known to be out of fuel, fears were strengthening early today minute by minute, that the Dole race, born in tragedy, may cost more lives before the final chapter can be written.

The monoplane "Golden Eagle" was 12 hours and 30 minutes past the limit of its fuel supply at 7 A. M. today, Pacific time.

The biplane "Miss Doran" was eight hours past the deadline at the same time.

Neither has been sighted nor heard from since plunging into the ominous fog bank bordering the Pacific at San Francisco Tuesday afternoon.

Isolated Island

Pecan island lies between White lake and the Gulf of Mexico and is in Vermillion parish, Louisiana. It extends across the marsh for 15 miles in a general east and west direction. The only means of communication with the outside world which its population of some 400 people have is by means of the mail boat, which makes a trip from Abbeville once a week.

The DAIRY SWEET CLOVER IN FAVOR FOR COWS

Sweet clover hay is a satisfactory substitute for alfalfa in the ration of the dairy cow, say dairy specialists of South Dakota State college. If it is well cured and not too coarse it supplies nutrients quite similar to alfalfa hay in quality and quantity. It is not as palatable a dairy feed as alfalfa and because it is somewhat coarse and stemmy the high-producing milk cow should not be required to clean up all that she is fed. In localities where both legumes can be grown successfully the usual practice of dairymen is that of relying upon the alfalfa crop for hay and upon sweet clover for pasture.

With a few exceptions sweet clover seems to give excellent results as a pasture crop. While the number of trials to determine its value are limited in number several experiment stations report no ill effects on dairy cattle when pastured on sweet clover. Furthermore these reports show that milk flow was maintained satisfactorily and no complaints were received reporting the odor or flavor of the milk as being disagreeable. Occasionally the loss of a cow from bloat is reported when sweet clover is pastured. But bloat seems to occur more frequently on alfalfa pasture. Unless the crop is pastured closely the growth will become rank, coarse and unpalatable.

It is estimated that sweet clover makes equally as nutritious silage as alfalfa. The amount of moisture in the legumes as cut for hay is usually high and if silage is made of this green material it is advisable to let it become slightly more mature than when cut for hay. One South Dakota dairymen reported satisfactory results with sweet clover silage last summer. There is, however, not enough evidence in support of this practice to warrant more than a reference to it.

Calves Thrive on Skim Milk if Supplemented

Under most conditions in Colorado the price of butter fat makes many dairymen hesitate to feed whole milk to their calves.

Whole milk is nature's food for the calf, but skim milk, properly supplemented with, in the light of many experiments, make a feed which is equally as good. Whole milk may make a better calf than skim milk, but not necessarily a better cow. Skim milk is the whole milk after the fat has been removed by the farm separator. It must be supplemented with feeds which are high in energy-giving nutrients called carbohydrates and fat. Such supplements are corn meal, kafir meal, ground barley and like feeds. The following ration is one suggested in the feeding of skim milk to calves: ground oats, one part; ground barley, one part; wheat bran, one part; skim milk and hay.

Corn meal or kafir meal may be substituted for the ground barley in the above grain mixture.—Extension Bulletin 236A. Colorado Agricultural College.

Skill in Getting Most Milk From Herd of Cows

Knowing how to calculate good rations does not constitute all the skill in getting the most milk from a herd of cows at the least cost and with the least wear and tear on the cows. Knowing feeds and the calculation of rations and not knowing cows is much like the theoretical agricultural economist who knows the theories of co-operative marketing without knowing the American farmer and his agriculture. There are thousands of dairymen who are doing a good job of getting a lot of milk from a herd of cows who do not know the arithmetic of calculating good rations, but these are men who know cows.

Dairy Facts

Watch the bags of the cows about to calve, and make sure they don't become so congested as to be injured. Better to milk out a little than to have a caked bag.

The cow which freshens during the fall may be expected to produce from 10 to 20 per cent more milk than does the cow which freshens during the spring months.

A good variety of feeds in the grain mixture will be appreciated by the dairy cow. Successful dairymen use corn, oats, bran, ground feed, oil meal and cottonseed meal.

Calves should have fresh water even though they are receiving milk.

A small amount of ground limestone in the ration of a dairy cow, one-half to one per cent of the ration, can be fed to advantage, especially if alfalfa is not used.

The symptoms of scours are profuse bowel discharges of exceedingly offensive matter. The calf shows intense suffering and usually dies within 24 to 30 hours.

TRAGEDY REARS HEAD IN DOLE HAWAII RACE

the "Aloha," "Miss Doran" or "Golden Eagle," collapsed again in her husband's arms.

"Where are the other boys?" were Goebel's first words.

"You're first," he was told.

The Hollywood stunt flyer, whose face must be known to hundreds of thousands of Americans for he has appeared in movieland, could scarcely believe it.

"It's hard to realize we're first in the race," he said.

His first action after the wild greetings had subsided was to dictate a message to his mother.

"Dear mother," he said, "here in 20 hours. Feeling fine."

Actually his time was 26 hours and 20 minutes.

Telling his own story of the flight Goebel declared:

"There was fog the entire distance. We saw the surface of the Pacific for the first time Wednesday morning.

The weather was pleasant except for the fog. We followed the radio beacon all the way. Maui was the first island we sighted. We had it in sight for the last two hours of the trip.

"I had to hold one of the tubes in our radio set in my hand to keep it working. After we passed the Golden Gate we didn't see a trace of the other three ships."

Captain Paul Schluter, navigator of Jensen's plane, appeared slightly dizzy after landing. It was his first long plane ride; his navigating experience was gained as a shipmaster and he deserted that calling for the glamor of the skies.

Jensen, native son, was almost buried beneath seas. The crowd refused to obey orders of the police and military to move back, so enamored were they of their own hero.

"Damned if I didn't lose my way," Jensen ejaculated. "And that's strange, for I know these islands better than any of the other flyers."

He was tired. "But I'm very happy," he added. "I never doubted my ability to reach the old home port."

Dole, too, was happy in the success of Jensen and Goebel.

"I knew they would; oh, I knew they would," he repeated.

As for the other two planes and their five occupants, for the first several hours of silence when the planes were believed safely on their way it was assumed that they had been hidden by fog and clouds from ships along the path. They had no radio sending sets and it was thought that, like Marty Jensen, they would suddenly dart out from the eastward sky and swoop down toward the field.

But the fuel carried by the two planes would not keep them aloft for the period which has passed since they hopped off from Oakland airport Tuesday.

The "Miss Doran," getting away 90 minutes behind the leaders, was given more of a chance to stay aloft than the "Golden Eagle" and it was computed that the big biplane could fly for 33 hours. But the 33 hours passed at 11 o'clock last night and there was no word from the ship.

It was similarly estimated that the "Golden Eagle" could stay aloft until 6:30 last night. At midnight Wednesday she was five and one-half hours overdue.

It was understood 32 navy ships would be called into action from the mainland today besides those in Hawaiian waters.

They will spread out over the steamer lanes, working fanwise across the area over which the planes headed.

Several rumors that the planes had reached Honolulu were broadcast by radio. The Radio Corporation of America, at San Francisco, sent out messages to ships at sea to be on the lookout.

Full descriptions of the lost planes were sent out to the searching ships by the navy wireless stations here and in San Francisco.

Both the "Miss Doran" and the "Golden Eagle" carried rubber life rafts. There were emergency food supplies on both planes and gasoline dumping systems which were intended to make the gasoline tanks buoyant enough to support the planes.

But the weight of the engines, it was feared, might have pulled the planes down before the occupants would have had a chance to use their emergency equipment.

Crissy Field, San Francisco, Aug. 18.—The Pacific Air Transport Co. will dispatch two planes from this field immediately in search of the missing Dole fliers, officials of the company announced at 10 A. M., Pacific time.

Grover Tyler, general superintendent of the company, which has the coast air mail contract, will pilot the first plane, it was announced. The second plane will be piloted by Jess Hart.

Honolulu, Aug. 18.—Hawaii awakened today, after an afternoon of expectant waiting and a night of welcoming the two Dole fliers who arrived safely, to realization that the smiling blue sunlit waters bordering the island shores are holding stark tragedy.

Failure of the "Miss Doran" and the "Golden Eagle" to arrive constitutes a more tragic and dramatic story to the island territory than even that of the late commander

SAYS HUSBAND SAT ON STREET CAR TRACKS

Los Angeles, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Her husband was violent tempered and had a habit of sitting on street car tracks, testified Mrs. Laura Votlon, daughter of the late C. A. Cranfield, millionaire oil man, at her divorce hearing.

She obtained a divorce.

John Rodgers and the immortal "Pn-9."

The fate of five lives, a daring girl and four men, is obscured by the light mists over the eastward horizon, curtaining 2,400 miles of sea to the North American mainland.

Somewhere on that great expanse of gently heaving ocean Hawaii believes the two planes came down.

How close to either shore—the mainland or the islands—is entirely unknown. Neither missing plane was reported after passing the Golden Gate.

Officials directing the navy's search, by destroyers, submarines and aircraft, admitted they were facing a tremendous task with absolutely no definite information to start upon.

The islands themselves have already been thoroughly searched in the hope that one or both of the planes might have made a forced landing on some isolated spot as did Ernie Smith and Emory Bronte in the first successful civilian flight ever achieved over this hazardous airway.

Nothing but dead silence followed departure of the ships from San Francisco. Neither plane was ever definitely sighted, and neither could give so much as its position in longitude and latitude.

Neither plane was equipped with pontoons hence no one can guess if the planes have fallen, whether they remain aloft.

While the planes may have gone down at any point between California and the islands, it is pointed out also that one or both might have overshot the islands completely by flying above the clouds and fog banks, or losing bearings.

Honolulu is generally pessimistic that even parts of the planes will ever be found.

The city expects their fate will remain secret, perhaps locked in the silence of some isolated cove of the Pacific.

Honolulu, T. H., Aug. 18.—Countless rumors swept through Honolulu last night and today, but the only one which had not been definitely discounted was this:

That signals are being flashed from the middle of Molokai Channel.

Investigation this morning revealed nothing to indicate the "signals" might have come from one of the missing ships. There was possibility that the reflections came from metal fittings on searching submarines.

By JOHN N. PALMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

San Francisco, Aug. 18.—With two trans-Pacific planes nearly 22 hours overdue at Hawaii and known to be out of fuel, fears were strengthening early today minute by minute, that the Dole race, born in tragedy, may cost more lives before the final chapter can be written.

The monoplane "Golden Eagle" was 12 hours and 30 minutes past the limit of its fuel supply at 7 A. M. today, Pacific time.

The biplane "Miss Doran" was eight hours past the deadline at the same time.

Neither has been sighted nor heard from since plunging into the ominous fog bank bordering the Pacific at San Francisco Tuesday afternoon.

Isolated Island

Pecan island lies between White Lake and the Gulf of Mexico and is in Vermillion parish, Louisiana. It extends across the marsh for 15 miles in a general east and west direction. The only means of communication with the outside world which its population of some 400 people have is by means of the mail boat, which makes a trip from Abbeville once a week.

The DAIRY

SWEET CLOVER IN FAVOR FOR COWS

Sweet clover hay is a satisfactory substitute for alfalfa in the ration of the dairy cow, say dairy specialists of South Dakota State college. If it is well cured and not too coarse it supplies nutrients quite similar to alfalfa hay in quality and quantity. It is not as palatable a dairy feed as is alfalfa and because it is somewhat coarse and stemmy the high-producing milk cow should not be required to clean up all that she is fed. In localities where both legumes can be grown successfully the usual practice of dairymen is that of relying upon the alfalfa crop for hay and upon sweet clover for pasture.

With a few exceptions sweet clover seems to give excellent results as a pasture crop. While the number of trials to determine its value are limited in number several experiment stations report no ill effects on dairy cattle when pastured on sweet clover. Furthermore these reports show that milk flow was maintained satisfactorily and no complaints were received reporting the odor or flavor of the milk as being disagreeable. Occasionally the loss of a cow from bloat is reported when sweet clover is pastured. But bloat seems to occur more frequently on alfalfa pasture. Unless the crop is pastured closely the growth will become rank, coarse and unpalatable.

It is estimated that sweet clover makes equally as nutritious silage as alfalfa. The amount of moisture in the legumes as cut for hay is usually high and if silage is made of this green material it is advisable to let it become slightly more mature than when cut for hay. One South Dakota dairymen reported satisfactory results with sweet clover silage last summer. There is, however, not enough evidence in support of this practice to warrant more than a reference to it.

Calves Thrive on Skim Milk if Supplemented

Under most conditions in Colorado the price of butter fat makes many dairymen hesitate to feed whole milk to their calves.

Whole milk is nature's food for the calf, but skim milk, properly supplemented will, in the light of many experiments, make a feed which is equal to as good. Whole milk may make a better calf than skim milk, but not necessarily a better cow. Skim milk is the whole milk after the fat has been removed by the farm separator. It must be supplemented with feeds which are high in energy-giving nutrients called carbohydrates and fat. Such supplements are corn meal, kafir meal, ground barley and like feeds. The following ration is one suggested in the feeding of skim milk to calves: ground oats, one part; ground barley, one part; wheat bran, one part; skim milk and hay.

Corn meal or kafir meal may be substituted for the ground barley in the above grain mixture.—Extension Bulletin 230A, Colorado Agricultural College.

Skill in Getting Most Milk From Herd of Cows

Knowing how to calculate good rations does not constitute all the skill in getting the most milk from a herd of cows at the least cost and with the least wear and tear on the cows. Knowing feeds and the calculation of rations and not knowing cows is much like the theoretical agricultural economist who knows the theories of co-operative marketing without knowing the American farmer and his agriculture. There are thousands of dairymen who are doing a good job of getting a lot of milk from a herd of cows who do not know the arithmetic of calculating good rations, but these are men who know cows.

Dairy Facts

Watch the bags of the cows about to calve, and make sure they don't become so congested as to be injured. Better to milk out a little than to have a caked bag.

The cow which freshens during the fall may be expected to produce from 10 to 20 per cent more milk than does the cow which freshens during the spring months.

A good variety of feeds in the grain mixture will be appreciated by the dairy cow. Successful dairymen use corn, oats, bran, gluten feed, oil meal and cottonseed meal.

Calves should have fresh water even though they are receiving milk.

A small amount of ground limestone in the ration of a dairy cow, one-half to one per cent of the ration, can be fed to advantage, especially if alfalfa is not used.

The symptoms of scours are profuse bowel discharges of exceedingly offensive matter. The calf shows intense suffering and usually dies within 24 to 36 hours.
